Germans Claim Four Soviet Armies Ringed With Steel

TRAPPED RED FORCES UNOFFICIALLY SAID TO BE HALF MILLION MEN

BULLETIN

Berlin, Sept. 19—(AP)—The German High Command announced tonight that the Germans had entered Kiev and that the German flag was flying on the citadel there.

By the Associated Press

German armies sweeping across the Dnieper river 200 miles east of Kiev have captured Poltava, only 80 miles from the big Ukraine industrial center of Kharkov, and other Nazi forces are engaged in annihilating four Russian armies trapped in the central Ukraine, Adolf Hitler's high command said today.

Kharkov is the chief industrial city of the Donets river basin.

The trapped Red armies, unofficially estimated at 500,000 troops, were reported caught in a steel ring 125 miles east of Kiev.

"Their annihilation is now in progress," the German high command said.

Simultaneously, grave new threats imperilled Kiev itself and the great northern metropolis of Leningrad.

More than 3,600,000 Soviet troops were declared to have been slain or captured in the three-months-old campaign. Half were killed, the Nazi high command said.

On the historic ratio of three wounded to every one killed in past wars, this would mean that Red army losses totalled the staggering figure of 9,000,000 men, including some 5,400,000 wounded.

German losses were put at only 402,865 killed, wounded and missing in the first two months of the war.

In a special bulletin, Hitler's field headquarters said German army groups under Field Marshal General Gerd von Rundstedt and Field Marshal General Fedor von Bock, slashing around Kiev in a vast flanking movement, had met beyond the Desna river to trap the Russians.

Finnish military dispatches said huge fires were raging in Leningrad, blazing so fiercely they could be seen with the naked eye in broad daylight from Finnish territory.

Other Nazi reports said Stuka dive bombers had silenced the guns of Kronstadt fortress, powerful island naval base 20 miles from Leningrad, thus paving the way for German warships to steam up the Gulf of Finland and shell the old czarist capital at close range.

A Red army bulletin acknowledged that the Germans had reached one of Kiev's gates, but indicated that the struggle had not yet reached a decisive phase.

German dispatches said other Nazi armies, sweeping eastward beyond the Dnieper river, had pushed about half way to Kharkov, in the heart of the Donets river industrial basin, 270 miles east of Kiev.

New pressure was reported, too, on the long-sieged Black Sea port of Odessa, where the Germans said they dropped more than 220,000 pounds of bombs in a single night attack.

The German High Command, releasing casualty figures on the first two months of the 90-day-old struggle, said German losses were 84,354 killed, 292,690 wounded and 18,921 missing. German air force losses for the two-month period were given as 1,542 dead, 3,980 wounded and 1,378 missing.

Russian prisoners were listed at more than 1,800,000 since the beginning of the conflict, with the number of Soviet killed rated considerably higher.

British estimates yesterday said the Russians had lost 3,000,000 men and the Germans 2,000,000.

Authoritative London quarters, acknowledging that the loss of coal and oil fields, steel plants and other war industries in the Ukraine had dealt a sore blow to the Russians, declared nevertheless that the U. S. S. R. could maintain a large army in the field even if the Germans overran the Donets in-

U. S. PUBLISHER SEES ULTIMATE RUSSIAN VICTORY

Ankara, Turkey, Sept. 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—Ralph Ingersoll, publisher of the New York newspaper PM, who arrived in Ankara today from Moscow, said he believed the Germans might take a few more "limited objectives" in Russia but ultimately would be stopped.

Then a mass of American material appearing on the Russian front will be felt, he said.

He praised the Russian staff work, which he declared demonstrated its excellence by holding together a 2,000-mile line against "the most efficient army in the world."

The front is actually 200 miles deep, with fighting going on all through that distance, Ingersoll stated. He described the German panzer tactics as continually surrounding Russian forces ranging from companies to divisions, with the Russians repeatedly sifting out of the encirclement, though often losing their equipment in doing so.

Loss of material on both sides has been heavy, he said, and it is plain that the issue is one of German factory production against that of the United States plus the

STATES SENATE FOR REPEAL OF NEUTRALITY ACT

Opposition Leader in Washington Admits Administration Can Win Vote in Upper Body if Issue is Raised There

HOUSE IS DOUBTFUL

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Sept. 19—(AP)—A leading opposition strategist conceded today that the administration could win Senate approval—by the margin of a dozen votes—if it sought outright repeal of neutrality act in furtherance of its program of aiding Britain.

Pointing out that any such proposal was likely to provoke heated and lengthy debate in both houses, this legislator said an informal count indicated opponents of repeal could muster no more than 37 votes, 12 short of a majority.

He declined, however, to speculate on the outcome in the House. Some observers have said that the division of opinion there is sharp and much in doubt, although the action of the American Legion this week in urging outright repeal of the law was expected to have some effect.

This evident uncertainty, as well as the prospect of a long argument on all of the aspects of the act, has caused administration leaders to consider only partial revision of the law to permit the arming of American merchant ships plying in the "defense waters" from which President Roosevelt has ordered the navy to clear Axis warcraft.

A proposal of that nature would leave temporarily undisturbed the law's other major prohibition against American vessels carrying war supplies directly to bel-

DEMAND REBEL MINERS RETURN

Hazleton, Sept. 19—(AP)—The United Mine Workers of America today called on an estimated 20,000 anthracite miners revolting against payment of increased union dues and assessments to return to work and present their grievances to a fact finding commission but there was no immediate indication of acceptance.

A commission representing the international board of the powerful CIO union presented the request a few hours after insurgent leader Garrett Miller told a gathering of his followers the work stoppage would continue until the union cancels increases of dues and assessments. A committee directing the revolt was summoned this afternoon to act on the commission plan.

Three Merchant Vessels of The Great Alcoa Fleet are Under Federal Requisition and Others May Be Taken Over as Dispute Between Seamen and Owners Over War Bonuses Spreads

THREATENS SUPPLIES IN OFF-SHORE BASES

New York, Set. 19—(AP)—Three merchant ships of the great Alcoa fleet were under federal requisition today and the government was ready to seize others as a dispute between seamen and owners over war bonuses threatened to burgeon into a general strike.

An estimated 14 ships of six companies were reported struck last night including the three vessels seized, the Alcoa Trader, Alcoa Banner and Alcoa Scout, owned by a subsidiary of the Aluminum Co. of America.

The strike was called Saturday by the Seafarers International Union (AFL) to enforce demands for increased bonuses for war-zone travel. No specific amounts were asked, except for a $60 monthly bonus for travel in the West Indies, which would thus become a war zone, as are Canadian waters, where a dollar-a-day bonus is paid.

Concerned over supplies for American offshore bases in the West Indies, the Maritime Commission set noon yesterday as the deadline for submission of the dispute to arbitration. The commission acted when the union refused to arbitrate and threatened a general strike. The seized vessels are at Weehawkan, N. J.

The union later announced it was willing to submit the dispute to arbitration but only on condition that the arbitrators considered the union's proposal that a $60 monthly bonus be paid to seamen plying West Indies waters.

At the same time on the Pacific coast, the Pacific American Shipowners Association asked govern-

SCHOOLS IN NINE COUNTIES WILL REMAIN CLOSED

Harrisburg, Sept. 19—(AP)—On the theory "We'd rather be safe than sorry" Dr. A. Hamilton Stewart, acting secretary of health, has directed schools to remain closed until September 29 in nine central counties where infantile paralysis has struck oftenest in the current outbreak.

The postponement of opening was the third since the start of September and meant extending the summer vacation for 260,000 school children in the areas nearly a month.

Dr. Stewart and Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the Bureau of Health Conservation, issued the closing order after the 30th victim succumbed to the disease. More than 400 persons have been afflicted.

The counties affected are Dauphin, York, Cumberland, Lebanon, Lancaster, Schuylkill, Northumberland, Montgomery and Cambria. Schools were to have opened there next Monday. The ban was lifted in two other counties—Adams and Franklin—this week.

"The situation in the nine counties is not getting any worse, but it's no better and new cases have been reported in all of them this week," Dr. Stewart said.

In other parts of the state the outlook "generally is pretty good", the health official said, and restrictions are unlikely there although cases have been reported in 56 of the 67 counties.

Cambria county reported its 21st case overnight, 12-year-old Donald Griffith becoming the eleventh child in Johnstown to be stricken. Thirteen sufferers already have been released from quarantine in the area.

PLEDGES KEPT TO THE LETTER GOVERNOR SAYS

State Executive is Speaker At Testimonial Dinner And Rally Held in Honor Of James F. Torrance at Altoona Thursday

PRAISE FOR CHAIRMAN

Altoona, Sept. 19—(AP)—State Republican Chairman James F. Torrance, speaking at a testimonial dinner and rally held in his honor last night, said the administration of Governor Arthur H. James has reduced the commonwealth's deficit by $47,500,000 in the past two years.

James, National Republican Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Blair county Judge George G. Patterson were other speakers at the affair, attended by cabinet members, legislative leaders, county and state Republican leaders, and the party's candidates for the appellate courts.

Torrance predicted that a continuation of present trends would find Pennsylvania with a balanced budget—"and possibly a surplus"—in 1943.

Governor James, speaking extemporaneously, told the gathering:

"Republican pledges made to you have been kept to the letter. Promises made not for the benefit of the party nor an individual, but for the men and women of the state, have been carried out to the best of our ability."

He credited Torrance with "much of the work that has been accomplished in the way of revitalizing Pennsylvania's economic and industrial stature."

YOUNG LAWYER IS LEGION HEAD

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19—(AP)—Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D., new national commander of the American Legion, took charge of the organization's affairs today with the statement he would carry forward the decision of the national convention to promote "unswerving support" of the government's foreign policy.

He is a 51-year old attorney who entered the World War as a private in 1917 and was commissioned a second lieutenant while serving overseas. He succeeded Milo J. Warner, of Toledo, O.

Stambaugh listed among the objectives of the Legion the defeat of Hitler, repeal of the United States' neutrality act and the use of American troops wherever the government needs them to keep war away from the United States.

He said that the Legion's refusal to go on record against lend-lease aid to Russia did not change

ELECTRICIANS AT KANSAS CITY BACK AT WORK

Final Settlement of Controversy That Resulted in Blackout Comes After Company Agrees to Permit Ringleaders to Return

INDUSTRIES RESUME

Kansas City, Sept. 19—(AP)—The surprise strike of electrical workers which began with a four-hour blackout and for two days kept Kansas City on pins and needles ended today.

Members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers voted 184 to 2 to return to their jobs at 7 a. m. (CST) and pickets withdrew from the two plants of the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

Final settlement came after company officials agreed to permit eight workers accused of sabotage during the walkout to return on the same basis as other employes.

The eight are charged with malicious destruction of property because of their part in the unheralded shutdown which plunged the city into paralyzing darkness.

The strike was called Tuesday midnight after the Defense Mediation Board referred back to the National Labor Relations Board and the U. S. circut court of appeals a dispute between the IBEW and the Independent Union of Utility Employes over which should represent 200 overhead workers and a dozen employes in the steam department.

The union will follow the request of the Mediation Board, I. B. E. W. President Fred Riddell said today, that the men return to work while an investigation of the dispute is made and cases pending before the NLRB and the U. S. court of appeals are expedited.

Skeleton crews of non-striking employes, under police protection, supplied the city with lights and power while negotiators worked toward a truce.

CURFEW IMPOSED BY OCCUPATION CHIEF IN PARIS

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Sept. 19—(AP)—The Germans announced today that two Communists were shot this morning for demonstrations in Paris against the German occupation as strife between the population and Nazi troops continued.

The executions followed new restrictions effective today upon all residents of the Seine department, which included the city of Paris.

"I will no longer allow the lives of German soldiers to be threatened by murderers," declared the German commander of occupied France.

In the latest of a series of restrictive measures, which began August 23 after a German officer was stabbed to death in a subway, Col.-Gen. Heinrich Von Stuehlpnagel issued a strict three-day curfew beginning tomorrow.

Traffic in the department was prohibited from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m., and all theaters, restaurants and amusement places were ordered to close at 8 p. m. during the three days.

Violators of regulations will be arrested and held as hostages.

German army units were ordered to patrol all streets.

On August 23, Lieut.-Gen. Von Schaumburg, commander of the German troops in Paris, ordered all Frenchmen arrested by or for German authorities in France held as hostages for the subway assassination.

This order also declared that for any furthtr acts hostages would be shot in numbers according to the gravity of the offense. There have been a number of incidents since then, including attacks on German soldiers in Paris, and some Frenchmen have been shot in reprisal.

CONFLICT DISCLOSED

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS

Washington, Sept. 19—(AP)—President Roosevelt, informed quarters reported today, has rejected proposals that would have placed a greater degree of control over defense industry in military, instead of civilian hands.

Refusing recommendations designed to extend the army's authority, Mr. Roosevelt took action to insure that the civilian-dominated governmental agencies administer measures affecting the supply of raw materials, priorities, production and export control.

The president's decision was the major development to date in what was described as a long and spirited behind-the-scenes battle for control of defense production and regulation of export trade.

Disclosure of the conflict followed the president's executive order of Sept. 15 which transferred the export control administration to the economic defense board headed by Vice President Wallace.

By that order the president not only transferred the hitherto separate, army-controlled export control administration to the vice president's board, but reduced it to a subordinate division which will be headed by a civilian, Milo Perkins, former head of the commodity credit corporation.

In the behind-the-scenes conflict, informed sources said, members of one faction described the others as "New Dealers" and were, in turn, called "Army Bureaucrats."

The so-called "New Dealers" charged that the "Army Bureaucrats" had ambitious plans—even to the point of preparing proposed executive orders for the president's signature—which would expand and extend the export control administration's powers until it would be in control of the major part of defense industries.

The military faction denied any ambitions to control industry.

FACTORY EMPLOYMENT JUMPS 23 PER CENT.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19—(AP)—Wage payments in Pennsylvania last month were 48 per cent above August, 1940, figure while factory employment jumped 23 per cent in the same period, the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia reports.

The bank, in its monthly survey of business and industrial conditions, reported wage payments totalled approximately $34,900,000 weekly during August, representing a four per cent increase over July and a 76 per cent jump above pre-war levels. Factory employment was estimated at 1,145,000.

CLANDESTINE GERMAN STATION IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Sept. 19—(AP)—A preliminary investigation has partially confirmed information that an unauthorized airfield and a clandestine Nazi radio station were operating near Las Palmas in Chiapas state, the ministry of communications reported today.

The announcement said the original reports of the airfield and station came from Governor Rafael Pascasco Gamboa, governor of the state.

Inspector Jesus Aguilera, assigned to check the governor's advices, has found substantiating evidence and the investigation will continue, the ministry said.

BRADFORD PRODUCER IS VICTIM

Explosion Which Occurs on Route 59, Short Distance From Custer City Shortly Before Noon Today, Takes Life of Driver, and J. Clifford Martin, Well Known Official of Penn'a Grade Crude Oil Association

THIRD MAN IS IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

A nitro-glycerine truck, enroute to Warren, exploded on the Warren-Bradford highway, Route 59, shortly before noon today, killing the truck driver and a prominent oil producer and critically injuring another widely known oil man. The oil men were passengers in a car following the truck along the highway.

The blast killed J. Clifford Martin, of Bradford, executive secretary of the Bradford District Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Producers Association, and injured Martin's companion, Clarendon Streeter, of Bradford, one of the largest producers in the district oil fields, so seriously that physicians held little hope that he might survive.

The explosion blew to pieces the truck and the driver, identified by the American Glycerine Company as John Gloss, Jr., 24, of Irvine Mills, N. Y. Gloss, who was driving from a glycerine supply house, either at Wellsville or Friendship, N. Y., was on his way to Warren.

Veteran oil field men said the

STUDY IS MADE OF TAX MEASURE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 19—(AP)—President Roosevelt said at his press conference today that he did not know exactly when he would sign the nation's biggest tax bill, a $3,553,400,000 measure which he brought with him from Washington.

The president, arrived this morning for a short stay at his ancentral home, said he thought 48 hours was not too long to study the bill and said that holding it up a day or so would not cost the government anything.

Mr. Roosevelt began the conference by asserting that he had no news today, and for the first time in months his press conference failed to produce a single important story.

News men brought up a wide range of subjects, but Mr. Roosevelt was not inclined to talk about them.

For the time being, books were the president's chief concern. But he indicated that later in the day he would get around to thumbing through the big revenue bill and various analyses of it which the treasury has prepared for him.

Mr. Roosevelt expected to remain here over the weekend, resting, getting in some measure of work, and helping to settle the estate of his mother who died September 7.

Rapidly Mounting Interest in the Times-Mirror Baby Election Noted

Today the office of the favorite baby election editor was a busy place indeed; some called to lend their encouragement to the project and to compliment the idea as a whole. Many wanted to know more about the rules for entering and just what had to be done to gain a place for their favorite in the list of nominees. The election and trade expansion is being sponsored by The Times-Mirror.

The answer is simple. You need only come to the election headquarters and fill in the nomination coupon for your favorite, or if it is more convenient to phone in the nomination just call Warren 2125, and give the name of the vivacious youngster you want to enter for the election honors and big cash awards that go to the winners and if possible bring or send a good picture of the baby.

Remember, there is no cost involved in any way. You don't need to even have a picture. For those who don't the Times-Mirror election editor has arranged to make the photograph without cost to the parent. Only an order from the Favorite Baby Election Editor upon Bairstow Studio to have the picture made is necessary. Could there be anything easier?

Nine Warren county men will leave Monday morning at ten o'clock for Fort Meade, Md., to be inducted into the U. S. Army under the Selective Service system. The men will travel over the Pennsylvania railroad, leaving from the local station.

Originally fixed at eleven, the local quota was reduced by the dropping of two men from the list of Local Board No. 2. Philip M. Irvine, of Tidioute, enlisted in the U. S. T. B. SEAL SALE DISCUSSED AT OIL CITY MEET

Homer M. Mohr, Mrs. Rose Sigworth and Mrs. Richard Schlaack were Warren county's representatives to the meeting held Wednesday in Oil City by tuberculosis workers of northwestern Pennsylvania.

Delegates from Warren, Forest, McKean, Erie, Elk, Crawford and Venango counties were addressed by Miss Frances Brophy, of the Christmas Seal Sale Service of the National Tuberculosis Association.

"This country faces an emergency in the struggle to control tuberculosis", Miss Brophy stated. "Statistics of every country have proved that in times of war tuberculosis has flared up and spread. But, if every possible safeguard is thrown up, the fatal increase can be prevented.

"The record in Pennsylvania is not reassuring because tuberculosis deaths increased during the first part of 1941 as compared with 1940. It is timely that the 1941 Christmas Seal will picture a lighthouse whose light symbolizes the work of the tuberculosis organizations in their constant fight. Combatting tuberculosis is urgently needed in building up both civilian and military defense."

Brilliant Northern Lights Display Witnessed by Residents of Area; Communication Lines are Affected

Residents of Warren and vicinity were treated to one of the most brilliant aurora borealis displays last night ever witnessed in this section.

Starting shortly after dark, the Northern Lights swept across the sky in an ever changing variety of colors and patterns, continuing until a late hour.

An unusual feature was that the lights, unlike their common name, did not originate from the northern skies. The first display extended from east to west and later to the south. At the height of the display filled the entire sky.

As soon as the lights started, hundreds of Warren residents hurried to Washington Park, Rieg Hill and other points of vantage to witness the spectacle. In Warren, every unobstructed spot was used by someone to watch the sky show.

The display started shortly after 8 p. m., with several long pencil-like beams sweeping across the sky from east to west. The ribbons of light later began to widen and the illumination spread throughout the sky.

As the light reached their height almost every color of the rainbow could be seen. The effect was a beautiful dome of vari-colored lights that proved awe-inspiring to those who saw the display.

One of the principal effects of the aurora borealis here was in the sudden surge of traffic experienced at the local office of the Bell Telephone Company, it was reported later.

Under normal conditions, it was stated this morning, the average number of calls transmitted through the central office here between 8 and 9 o'clock is 1,570. However, during this period last night, there were 2,530 calls handled, which is 960 more than normal. Most of the increase was in the 20-minute period from 8:45 to 9:05, while the display was at its height.

Officials of the company said all available extra operators were called in as soon as the increase in traffic became apparent. However, it was impossible to cope with the sudden rise in the number of calls and some people may have experienced slow service during that time, officials said.

Radio transmission and reception were greatly hampered by the northern lights. Transmission over the wires of the Associated Press to morning papers also was disrupted several times.

According to the Associated Press, the magnetic storm—for such is the term used by scientists to describe the apparent cause of the aurora borealis—struck wireless communications to and from Europe, the Far East, and Latin America. Telegraph companies and their service were affected seriously in an area north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi with the greatest interference between Philadelphia and Harrisburg and the Chicago district.

The disturbance was felt as far west as Albuquerque and Denver, north to the Canadian border and from Boston south to Atlanta. Telephone lines were affected between Minneapolis and Fargo, N. D., the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said.

Most scientists believe the aurora borealis is a manifestation of sunspots. The sunspots, themselves, appear to set up magnetic currents emanating earthward in a manner which slashes communication lines.

Specialized Evening Classes For Retail Store Employes Announced

Through the cooperation of the Retail Merchandising Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce and the Warren school board, there will be free specialized evening classes this winter for men and women wishing to prepare themselves for better positions in the retail field, it was announced by the Chamber office today.

The classes will be restricted to employed persons, it was announced. Anyone who desires to enroll may do so without cost, providing they complete at least three-fourths of the thirty-week course.

The committee invites merchants in all lines of trade to feel free to enroll themselves and many of their employes in order that store operation here may be improved.

Proprietors themselves may be interested in the proposed course in "Credit Fundamentals," inasmuch as granting of credit is a matter of prime importance, it was stated. Both proprietors and others should be interested in a course which will include discussion of salesmanship, small store operation and public relations.

Anyone interested in either of those courses, or in a course of waitress training, should enroll at the Warren High School next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Each enrollee will be asked to make a deposit of five dollars as surety of his serious interest in the classes. This amount will be returned if the student completes at least three-fourths of his course or if the class is discontinued for any reason, or if he is compelled for good reason to discontinue his attendance.

Attention is called to the fact that students residing outside the borough of Warren will be required to pay a tuition fee of one dollar per month for each two-hour course for which he enrolls.

Competent instructors and discussion leaders will be provided by the school board. Two-hour classes will be held for each course, one evening each week except during the holiday season, for a total of thirty weeks.

SPRING CREEK MAN USES GUN TO SLAY SELF

The body of Arthur G. Ness, 43, of Oil Creek Hill in Spring Creek township, was found about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a Ford sedan which was parked on the Clough farm in Spring Creek township, in a lane leading from the foot of a grade on the Jackson Hill road. Death resulted from a gunshot wound.

Coroner E. C. Lowrey and state motor police from Corry were called and reported that the man's body was slumped behind the steering wheel of the car. Ness apparently had placed the muzzle of a .32 calibre rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The discharge blew most of his head off.

A note, written in pencil, was found on the dashboard. It read as follows: "Goodbye to all. My mind is too far gone to bring it back. Arthur Ness."

Members of his family said he had previously threatened to take his own life, but that they did not think he was serious.

The body was discovered by Fred Deschamp, who lives near the scene. He saw the machine standing on the Clough farm and becoming suspicious that all was not well, he investigated and found the victim. It was reported Ness had been seen at 1:30 p. m. by Robert Van Guilder, another neighbor.

The coroner issued a certificate of suicidal death by shootnig and permitted the removal of the body to the Hull Funeral Home in Youngsville.

Ness, a diemaker at the plant of the Raymond Manufacturing Company, is survived by his wife and one son.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

F. B. I. OFFICERS HOLD MEETING HERE THURSDAY

A demonstration of a new high-powered revolver, of Thompson sub-machine guns and trick pistol shooting by F. B. I. agents were features at a meeting of law enforcement officers of Warren and Forest counties, held yesterday afternoon at the municipal building here, with demonstrations at the outdoor range in Conewango avenue extension.

The group was welcomed by Burgess R. W. Steber and District Attorney J. H. Goldstein was a speaker. A moving picture, "Men of the F. B. I.", was shown to those present.

Joseph E. Thornton, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the F. B. I., was in charge of the conference.

Special Agents T. D. Webb and G. A. Van Noy gave the firearms demonstration at the range. Webb did trick shooting, using two mirrors in some of his shots. He also demonstrated a new Smith & Wesson Magnum revolver. The new revolver's projectile travels nearly twice as fast as the bullet from an ordinary .38 calibre gun and will penetrate 41 inches of pine block. A shot from this revolver into the engine block of an automobile will penetrate and smash the engine.

Both men demonstrated the use of sub-machine guns, or "tommy guns" with tracer bullets. Light from the tracer bullets is enough to illuminate a target at night, Webb explained, allowing a law enforcement officer to take one shot and then be able to see from its light where to place the next shots.

Practical pistol work and use of riot guns with tear gas or parachute flares were also explained. The F. B. I. men also showed hand gas and smoke bombs.

AMATEUR PLAYS CAREFUL BRIDGE FOR SMALL SLAM

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The amateur events of the American Contract Bridge League are probably misnamed. They should be termed non-Master events, because any player holding 10 or more Master Points is barred from the amateur contests.

But the possession of 10 Master Points does not make a player a professional. Interest in the amateur games is always keen. I sometimes think it might be a good idea to transfer some of the Masters over to the amateur games and let them see how well some of his hands are bid and played by the non-Masters.

Opening—♣ Q. 19

The President's Pair event at Asbury Park this year, for which the winners were awarded special trophies donated by Col. Robert J. Gill, of Baltimore, Md., president of the league, was won by Judge A. D. Delmar, of Englewood, N. J., and David Horan, of Radburn, N. J. In second place were Jacob Benson of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Milton Tropp of Newark, N. J.

One of the interesting hands played in the President's Pairs is shown today. Several pairs reached six spades but only Horan (North) made the contract. The club lead was won by the ace and a heart lead put dummy in to lead a diamond. The queen was finessed and won. This finesse strangely enough, was taken by all the slam bidders—and turned out to be necessary.

Horan continued by ruffing a low diamond, ruffing a low heart, then another diamond ruff, dropping the king. Another low heart was led from dummy for North to ruff. Horan now decided further ruffing would lead to disaster.

So he cashed the king and ace of trumps, leaving himself with none and West with the queen. Dummy cashed the heart king, and as Horan had hoped, the hand with the last trump also had the last heart. That let dummy continue with the fifth heart and North discarded his last two small cards. North held the diamond ace and the club king at the end, and West made only his long trump.

An estimated annual damage of $50,000,000 in the United States alone is done by termites.

AURORA BOREALIS!

Thousands in Warren and vicinity, along with millions of others in the northern hemisphere, last evening were privileged to witness one of the greatest astronomical displays seen in the skies in the last ten years.

According to the Associated Press the spectacular display of the Aurora Borealis swept the northwestern skies in a heavenly show which led many an individual to believe it had something to do with national defense.

"Is the army testing a new searchlight?" or "Is the air force practicing a new type of night tactics?" were samples of some of the thousands of phone calls which swamped newspaper offices throughout the country.

The capricious flickerings in the firmament played hob with wireless and cable connections, practically around the globe and disrupted radio and telegraph services throughout the United States.

Dispatches today say the disturbance was felt as far west as Albuquerque and Denver, north to the Canadian border and Boston and south to Atlanta. Telephone lines were affected between Minneapolis and Fargo, N. D.

The lights followed a shooting pattern, mostly in green with some pink beginning in a sort of streak and ending in something resembling a flower and were described by attaches of the Planetarium as "very bright."

Most scientists believe the Aurora Borealis is a manifestation of sunspots. The sunspots, themselves, appear to set up magnetic currents emanating earthward in a manner which slashes communication lines. The cross-current effect sometimes sets up currents of considerable voltage in land lines.

The phenomena certainly provided a thrill that will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to view it.

NEWSPAPERS AND DEFENSE

Writing in the current issue of the State Department of Internal Affairs' bulletin in connection with National Newspaper Week, October 1-8, the Williamsport publisher said:

"These are troubled times for the state and nation but it is the pledge of the newspapers of Pennsylvania that every part of our resources—mental, spiritual and physical—will be given to the defense of America against attack from without and plotting within."

Person declared that there are 135 daily newspapers and 460 weeklies in the Commonwealth and asserted: "Nearly all of them are prosperous, going concerns. It is fair to state that each of these newspapers ranks near the top in the industrial life of the community it serves."

Person declared that "the press has marched in the front lines of defense in every American emergency and we want the people of Pennsylvania to realize that we are again on the march."

And to that pledge the Times-Mirror gives a wholehearted endorsement.

Next Tuesday, September 23rd, is the last day of summer, but there'll be no complaint if the present brand of weather is continued for the next three or four months.

And don't forget, the next big event in the "Retailers-for-Defense" Week program will be a concert by the high school band on the lawn of the municipal building this evening.

Some Warren women won't stock the fruit cupboard this year because they'll think the prices "uncanny!"

So far as two Warren men are concerned the straw hat season did not end September 15th.

If your neck is stiff and back a little sore today blame it on the Aurora Borealis.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 19—One of the most hopeful signs in Washington these days is an apparent consciousness of too much red tape and the desire of some parties to do something about it. Early in the defense effort, Rep. Andrew Edmiston, of Weston, W. Va., made news when he called up the War Department to ask if the Army would want any pre-fabricated buildings in its construction program. He got transferred sixteen times, but the 16th fellow he talked to was the man he had talked to first.

That incident inspired national archives officials to trace the origin of the term "red tape" back to its first use, shortly after the war between the states, when a veteran bawled out a clerk who was holding up a pension check, demanding that the red tape which was then used in place of paper clips be torn off his application so he could get his money. The story got wide circulation and red tape soon became synonymous with government delay. But here is the third defense effort since Civil War days, and there is still red tape.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the length of time necessary to approve a lease-lend application had been cut from 25 days to 16 days, and was being cut another 24 hours by giving Lease-Lend Administrator Ed Stettinius authority to sign the applications in place of the president is a sample of the time saving that can be effected.

An amazing sidelight, however, is that one of the first things Donald Nelson had to do when he became head of priorities, succeeding Stettinius, was call in a staff of Chicago mail order experts and clean up a backlog of more than 5000 unhandled applications bound up in the Stettinius administration red tape. The rule is now that all priorities applications must be cleared within 48 hours from the time of their arrival in Washington.

Behind a Commerce Department announcement of a few days ago, that it was setting up its own clearing house to break a bottleneck in the handling of export clearances for South America, there was another long tale of grief written in miles of government red tape.

One of the principal concerns of the Export-Import bank, in loaning some $150 million to Latin America for internal development of the 20 American republics, has been the stipulation that all import materials needed for these improvements must be purchased in the United States. Roads, railroads, steel mills, mines, agricultural developments—all were bound to use machinery made in the U. S. A.

Then along came the defense effort. Exporters making road machinery, locomotives, mining equipment, farm implements, under contracts financed by Export-Import loans, suddenly found that couldn't get priorities on steel to complete the Latin American orders.

Here was a snarl that involved half a dozen government agencies—State, Commerce, War, Navy, defense OPM, and the Export-Import bank. Finally a procedure was set up within the office of Export Control, which has final say on what goods can be shipped out of the country, and where. A staff of hard-boiled Army officers was supposed to cut through all the red tape in such a manner that one of these applications coming into Washington could be cleared by all six of the departments within three days. It didn't work.

Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, who had been in charge of export control, was ordered back to active duty in the War Department and his organization was transferred to

Horthy Rules Hungary But Nazis in Control

NOMINAL head of Hungary is Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the 73-year-old regent, who rules from an imperial palace but has no empire, who is an admiral in a country which has no navy and who waits the return of the Hapsburgs, whom he doesn't want.

To further complicate matters, Hungary joined the axis in 1940 under German pressure and whatever control Horthy now wields is delegated to him by Nazi overlords.

The stamp above was issued March 24, 1941. The surtax was used to finance civilian and army pilot training through the Horthy National Aeronautic Fund.

Horthy is technically a dictator. He suppressed the Bolshevik government of Bela Kun in 1920. Hungary was declared a monarchy and Horthy was named regent.

He received the rank of admiral in World War I when he commanded the Austro-Hungarian navy.

His regency is an anomaly. He represents the non-existent king of a kingless kingdom. The nearest claimant is 29-year-old Archduke Otto, and the possibility of his accession is slight.

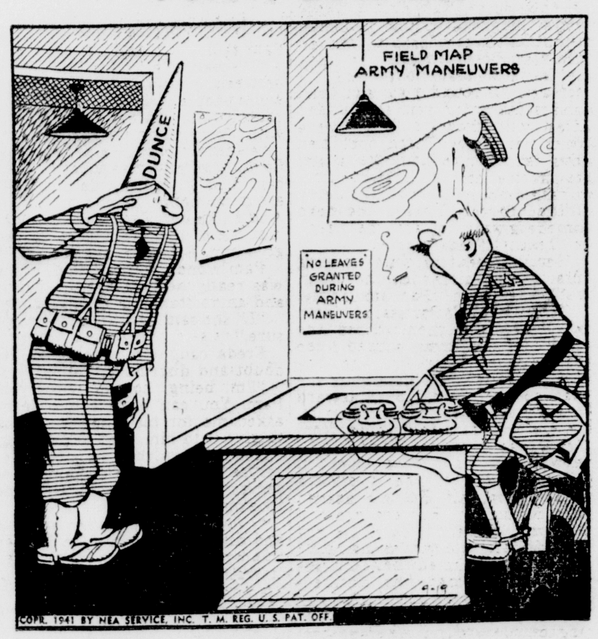
FUNNY BUSINESS



"We've just been captured by the opposing army and the Colonel sends his compliments, sir!"

EARLY AD COPY MEANS GOOD COMPOSITION AND A CHANCE FOR BEST POSITION

The United States had a population of 31,443,321 in 1860 when the eighth census was taken.

Edson's Washington Column

the new Economic Defense Board under Vice President Wallace and Milo Perkins. EDB will now try to relieve some of the red tape pressure which has been strangling priorities applications from the good neighbor countries.

The South Americans themselves have been screaming to high heaven. Here a country had borrowed millions to develop, say a copper mine. The copper was sold to U. S. for defense purposes. But when this same country wanted to buy copper tubing or pipe made in U. S. A., perhaps manufactured from its own ore, it couldn't get an export license. One country, Peru, solved the problem finally by threatening to put an export tax on its ore. Another republic, Argentina, had a commercial attache make the acquaintance of four copper "experts" in the OPM organization, and then gave up.

The yells of the South Americans were only slightly less painful than the yells of the American manufacturers. Here was the government, on the one hand, sponsoring short wave radio programs to win the Latins away from the Nazi propaganda, while on the other hand an American manufacturer of radio sets couldn't get the priorities or export clearances on materials for radio parts and sets to keep South Americans listening.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Ten

Pam to the Rescue

PAM stepped back—so his hands couldn't quite touch hers.

"You couldn't have anything to say to me that I'd want to listen to, Jerry. I think I'd better go in, now that you've untangled yourselves from my garden . . ."

"Come on, Jerry," Freda broke in. "Can't you see that the girl's giving you the air, darling? Don't you recognize extermination technique when you see it?"

"Shut up!" growled Jerry, then he turned to Pam and started to move toward the house. "Pam, I've got to talk to you. You've got to listen, whether you want to or not."

Freda stretched an arm out for Jerry, missed him, and then flopped in a soft, apparently boneless heap on the grass. Jerry paid no attention, trying to urge Pam on toward the house.

"But, Jerry, you can't leave her there. It's damp. She'll take cold."

"Good. She needs something like that."

"Jerry, you've got to pick her up. Put her in your car and take her home."

"I won't. I've got things to say to you."

"And do you think, if you're the kind of man who'll let a girl catch her death of cold through your carelessness, I want to hear anything you might say?"

"Freda's putting on an act!" Jerry exclaimed angrily. "She's got anything that happens coming to her."

"Putting on an act? I don't understand?"

"Of course you wouldn't, Pam." His voice was suddenly tender. "How could you? You're so different."

Pam felt as if tears were dropping in her heart. The sweet, familiar tenderness of his voice! But the moon, sailing high in the sky, chose that moment to pick out Freda's diamond and light it magically.

"An act?" Pam heard herself repeating coldly. "That sounds like a poor excuse for your rudeness, Jerry."

"Yes, an act!" It was Jerry who was indignant then. "That girl could show Helen Hayes things and still have lots of lessons left over. Come on in the house. You're listening to me for a while." He put his arm around her and was moving toward the house. It was only with difficulty that he kept from straining her to his heart.

Jerry Winthrope had met many girls. But Pam stood out above them with the clear and faithful beauty of a Cathedral spire in a little Mexican town. The others could not even be compared with her.

In the glorified instant that he stood there with his arm around her, his vision swept down the list of girls who had been the gay playmates of his lighter hours. He had never been serious with any of them, except in that rather half-hearted way, with Freda.

Beautiful, willful Freda. Gay, Sally. Harriet. And on finally to May. Jerry's thoughts paused for an instant on May. She was writing him still. He answered her only after hearing from her repeatedly. He had never made any promises to May, who danced in a Broadway floor show. But May had sticking qualities, it was apparent. Jerry lingered on that instant as he stood there in the warm, scented moonlight, his arm around Pamela.

Freda's Act

"LET'S go in, Pam. I must talk to you," he said finally. There were things he wanted to settle.

But Freda's voice cut through the soft Florida night:

"Go into that house and I'll scream. I'll sound your car siren and scream for you so all Key West will know you're in there with her, Jerry Winthrope! And this isn't a nice hour for a girl to have callers!"

"Oh, no you won't!" Jerry turned fiercely toward the heap on the grass.

"I will," Freda giggled.

Jerry stood irresolute, looking first at one girl, then the other.

"Bring her in," Pam said softly.

"I won't!" Jerry stared down at Freda and then stirred the fabric of her dress with the toe of his shoe.

"I will then." As quietly as she had spoken, Pam moved toward the girl and bent to help her up. There was a stifled sound from Jerry.

"Oh, all right!" he cried in exasperation. "If you will be a good Samaritan! But she doesn't deserve it!"

Jerry bent and picked the girl up. He carried her into the house and then dumped her unceremoniously into a chair.

"And I suppose you think I can talk to you with this leering, jeering female around?" he demanded of Pam.

"No one asked you to talk to me. As a matter of fact, I don't want to talk to you. I want you to be on your way just as fast as you can. I've seen all I want to of you!"

Jerry stared in surprise, his anger leaving him. "Pam, I don't understand," he said.

"It doesn't make much difference whether you do or not."

"Oh, yes it does!" He put his hands on her shoulders and forced her to face him. "It makes all the difference in the world. Pam, what's happened? What's changed you?"

"You would ask that!" she said bitterly.

"Well, what should I ask?"

"Nothing. You should know."

"All I know is that you walked out on me. Walked out on me and made a laughing stock of me."

"Good! You asked for it!"

"Are you crazy?"

"No, but you are! You must be!"

Jerry stared at Pam for a puzzled moment. Then he turned, mumbling something about women and their lack of understanding, and rushed out of the door.

Pam thought that was what she wanted, but when the door closed behind his angry figure she felt as if the light had gone out of her life. She stood, stricken, listening to the sound of his steps on the walk. The beat of her heart was like an aching echo of them.

Freda slowly opened her eyes and sat watching Pam in silence for a moment.

"I'm sorry," she said finally. "I hadn't realized."

"Sorry?" Pam came back to the present with difficulty. "You hadn't realized what?"

"That it could be like that. I mean there was something in your voice. I could hear it. Something I've never felt for Jerry and probably never will. So," with a gesture that had in it something gay and gallant, "I give him to you, Pam. I'm stepping out of the picture."

Pam looked at the other girl doubtfully. She brushed impatiently at her eyes with the back of her hand. Freda mustn't see her crying. She was not sure she understood what Freda had just been saying. It might merely be more of her brittle young smartness. It might be Freda's idea of fun to trap her into further signs of affection for Jerry and then scoff at her.

"You — you must be frozen," Pam said not quite steadily. "I'll —I'll make some tea."

Gift From Freda

SHE hurried from the room. In the kitchen she found Melita in a crisp, fresh housedress. Its colorful pattern was blurred by the mist in Pam's dark eyes.

"Oh, Melita, it's so early. You shouldn't be up!"

"Hush, bambi," gently from Melita. "If it is early for Melita; twice early is it for her bambi." She took the tea things from Pam's hands. "Tea, bambi? And strong?"

"Please. The China, Melita. With lime. And get the pretty cups Grandsir brought from India."

"Yes. And now dry your eyes and go back to your strange company. I'll bring the tea."

Pam went back to Freda, a smile wavering over her stricken young face.

"I hope you've forgiven me this tonight," Freda had the grace to beg in an humble voice.

"Oh, I'm sorry you had to get your help up," she said to Pam.

"But I didn't," Pam said as she served the tea. "Melita just got up and came down. She's like that."

"Yes"—Freda took the cup from Pam — "she would. Your help would be like that. That's what I mean about you, Pam. You and Jerry. That's what I was trying to tell you."

"I'm afraid I don't know what you're talking about, though," Pam said.

"I mean, Pam, the difference between you and me. You're—well, people would love you because you love them. It's that way with Jerry. You love him. You love him with such a selflessness. So you can give him what I never can. And I have my decent, generous moments, Pam, really I do. And I like Jerry too well to cheat him out of the happiness you can give him. See what I mean?"

Pam wondered if she did, if she was really hearing Freda's words and understanding them rightly.

"I," she said hesitantly, "I'm not sure."

Freda caught something of the doubt and distrust in Pam's eyes.

"I'm being honest with you, Pam. You can believe me. Jerry asked me for his ring. I'm going to give it to him. He's a good egg. I don't know that he quite deserves you, but he certainly deserves better than a thrill-hound like me."

"I don't believe we can sit here and dispose of Jerry's future like this between us," Pam said quietly. "After all, he'll take the woman he wants, if she'll have him."

"And that woman will be you. Take him, Pam. Don't let any hurt pride or anything keep you from it. Jerry's worth it, believe me. I've known him all my life, you see. Jerry needs someone like you. Don't let Lenore get you down."

"But I don't know why you're telling me all this," Pam said.

"Because I don't want you to miss the chance of a lifetime. I mean the chance to get Jerry Winthrope."

Clerks, Typists, Radio "Hams" In Civilian Life Find Same Jobs in Navy

By NEA Service

Washington, Sept. 19—You may think the new work of your Joe, who has just joined the navy, is something very different from the jobs and hobbies he had in civilian life.

Likely as not, you'll be wrong. The navy needs plenty of such civil life workers as clerks, storekeepers, stenographers and typists. If Joe was an expert typist as a civilian, likely as not he'll become a yeoman in the service. The navy also makes use of hobby skills and if Joe was an ardent radio "ham" at home, he'll probably end up a radioman at sea.

All navy ships, except submarines and destroyers, have two top jobs for yeomen. One is ship's writer, or secretary to the executive officer. The other is captain's writer, or the boss' secretary.

To get one of these top jobs, perhaps as a chief yeoman, Joe must be an expert typist and be able to take 200 words a minute shorthand. In addition he must know how to handle the myriad navy forms and do complicated filing.

Clerking in civilian life is likely to lead to Joe's wearing the crossed keys insignia of storekeeper on his sleeve. Legible handwriting and typing skill are important for storekeepers. Joe must learn, if he wants to reach the top, how to requisition, store and issue supplies and how to plan and ration the amount and kind of food necessary for a given cruise.

The navy's radiomen, like civilian amateurs (which many of them were before enlisting), have been the heroes of many a mishap. In an emergency, their shipmates' lives may depend on their competence and so nothing is spared in their training.

If Joe has the necessary aptitudes and qualifications he may be sent to the radio school at San Diego, Calif. After that he must show his stuff in practice. Before he'll be qualified for a chief radioman's rating and $126-a-month pay he'll have to be able to operate receivers and transmitters, encode and decode messages, operate and adjust direction finders, antennae and all sound equipment on his ship.

Then, before he can reach the top, he must go back to school—the navy's radio material school. After that he'll be able to operate and maintain all types of naval radio, telegraph and telephone transmitters and receivers.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

MIAMI—Dave Fleischer hopes to go to town in a big way just as soon as "Mr. Bug Goes to Town." . . . Mr. Bug will have about seven tons of assorted watercolors on his neck as soon as they get through with him here in Miami at the Fleischer studios. Mr. Bug is a feature length animated cartoon motion picture, and as Fleischer and his associates crowd into September's dying days they see the end in sight. This means 18 months of continuous effort, of consultation, of pencil sketches, of paint mixing, of photography, of hustle and bustle and—above all—a study of bugs.

I think they have a unique idea behind this picture. . . . The characters all are insects. . . . They sit around and mourn over what a menace "the human ones" are. . . . Well, why not? . . . A man throws away a lighted cigar stub—and cremates a whole colony of beetles. . . . A little boy kicks a tincan—and brings disaster to a family of crickets. . . . It goes like that. . . . It has real pathos, and it is a study in life that will intrigue adults as well as children.

* * *

WE SPENT most of a day just ambling about the studios. . . . Some of it was in the paint shop, where James Lunnon, who used to be a color expert for Rolls Royce in New York, has sole charge of the tremendous task of creating just the right tints and shadings of the colors to be used. He has more than 4500 different colors and tones.

Then we went to the screening room and saw a motion picture composed only of vague pencil outline drawings. . . . In this business you don't wait until the product is finished to look at it. . . . You sketch out the action and throw it onto the screen and study it in embryo. . . . Editing is done then and there. . . . Then black and white is added, and rescreened. . . . If it looks good then, background and color are added. . . . It was fascinating to see this film in pencil sketch, followed immediately by several reels of the finished color product.

* * *

FLEISCHER works hard and he fishes hard. . . . On the walls of the Museum of Natural History in New York is a rare Hound Fish, caught by him. . . . On his office wall is a beautiful sailfish, the only one he has ever caught. . . . The other morning he had a monster on his hook for more than two hours. . . . It got away and he hasn't the slightest idea what it was.

But, for the moment, fish take second place in his affections. He's thinking of Hoppity, who is Mr. Bug in this animated venture that costs so many hundreds of thousands of dollars to produce. . . . Mr. Bug in Dave's life becomes Mr. Big. . . . If the picture wins, Dave wins and all his associates win. . . . If it doesn't; well, there's always the Atlantic ocean. I am not a confirmed fan of animated cartoon movies. . . . I never have recommended one before. . . . I didn't even go for "Snow White." . . . Somehow, I feel that this has an inner pathos that is very human, and therefore worthwhile, and if I didn't think so I wouldn't say it.

Don'ts for Schoolmarms :

How not to behave before the class is demonstrated by Olivia De Havilland, who qualifies as an authority by playing a schoolmarm in "Hold Back the Dawn."

1. DON'T get excited. Think of your poise—and your little girls too!

2. DON'T eat them apples. It ain't ladylike to chomp in front of people.

3. DON'T daydream. How you going to beat brains into the darlings if you do?

4. DON'T paint up in class. It ain't no kind of example to set for growing girls.

Warren Concert Association Closing Annual Membership Enrollment on Saturday Evening

Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, president of the Warren Concert Association, announces today that the annual membership enrollment of the organization will come to a close at six o'clock tomorrow evening and that all reports are to be made at headquarters in the Warren Conservatory of Music by nine o'clock.

The association is arranging a season's schedule of which it has every reason to be very proud. Much favorable comment has been heard in the community concerning its tentative choice of Frederick Jagel, of the Metropolitan Opera; the Curtis String Quartet, of Philadelphia, and Sidney Foster, young American pianist who made a brilliant debut this spring with the New York Philharmonic.

Word has just been received by the campaign committee from New York that young Foster is to give a Town Hall recital during October and has been engaged for appearances with the Dallas, Texas, and New Orleans, La., symphonies in the coming season.

Frederick Jagel is a member of the Metropolitan Quartet which debuts October 10 in Vancouver, British Columbia, and continues with a coast-to-coast concert itinerary. He is credited with "saving" another opera performance during his recent tour in South America, when the leading tenor was removed from the cast by an emergency appendectomy, recalling to many Jagel's substitution for Martinelli when the latter collapsed on the stage at the Metropolitan not long ago.

The Curtis String Quartet has played in over 200 leading American cities and was chosen by the English-Speaking Union as the United States' musical representative to the silver jubilee of the late King George of England. The quartet has also given special concerts at the American embassy in London and at the White House in Washington.

It is doubly important that all reports be received tomorrow evening, since concert dates must be arranged immediately upon close of the enrollment and there are no admissions available later for individual concerts.

With Our Boys In Indiantown Gap

Indiantown Gap, Sept. 19--(AP)--The homeward trek for Pennsylvania soldiers over 28 years old will begin any day now with 150 members of the 104th Cavalry listed to quit active service before the North Carolina war games.

Baggage and equipment of about 20 cavalrymen already has been checked as soon as the word is received they will resume private life under the new army regulations based on the selective service age limit of 28.

Lieutenant Robert O. Rupp of Carlisle, personnel adjutant of the 104th Cavalry, which is not a part of the 28th Division but is in training with it, said that about 150 cavalry troops would be shifted to inactive duty with the National Guard before the unit leaves September 25, for southern maneuvers.

Lieut. Col. Henry A. Reninger, adjutant general of the 28th Division, has a list of 2,049 soldiers who were over 28 years old prior to induction into federal service, or selectees who reached that age before July 1. Of these, 807 are classed as eligible for quickest release because of family obligations and other reasons.

The War Department has authorized release of up to 15 per cent of each unit's strength but the final orders for mustering out have not been received.

The released guardsmen will remain a part of the National Guard organization, in inactive status, and the selectees will be shifted to an enlisted reserve corps to serve 10 years less time already put in.

The 28th Division, the 104th Cavalry and the 103rd Observation Squadron, numbering approximately 18,000 troops, will move in three columns next Thursday on the road to Lilesville, N. C. for the war games.

Two columns will go through Harrisburg and the third through Lebanon, Lancaster and Columbia, according to present plans, taking five days to make the journey.

Under special orders of Lieut. General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the first army, the division will make the trip on rubber tires, using for the first time hired busses and convoy vehicles.

A few of the combat troops of the 109th Infantry had a taste yesterday of the kind of trip it will be. They were given a drill in boarding a Greyhound bus. There won't be enough busses to go around, however, and many will make the five-day trip in harder vehicles.

The troops will reach Greensboro, N. C., Saturday night and will remain there over Sunday. On Monday morning, they become part of the First Army, functioning as such from the moment they roll out of Greensboro for Lilesville.

Special Features of Red Cross Work Outlined by Leaders Here

The promotion committee of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross, believes it is quite possible that even many persons who are engaged in local work of the organization do not realize what a vast program of human relief it carries on.

An interview with those in charge reveals that there are phases of the local work which attract no attention because they are operated quietly and confidentially. Such is the work of the local committee responsible for acting as intermediary in cases of emergency between soldiers and their relatives. The home service committee of the local Red Cross chapter concerns itself with the welfare problems of members of the military service from this area, and of disabled ex-service men and their dependents. In all cases of emergency, the local committee can communicate with men in service through the Red Cross field directors at the various military stations.

The American Red Cross carries on a continuous program of relief to prisoners of war. It enables donors in this country, if they have the necessary identifying information, to send standard packages of food to specific prisoners of war. The Red Cross assumes not only all administrative expense, but also all handling charges, including ocean freight for packages or other relief made possible through contributions for prisoners of war. This is in addition to expenses incurred by the Red Cross in purchase of food packages and relief supplies for general distribution to prisoners of war. Staff members are also maintained in Lisbon and Geneva to facilitate this program. Since the Red Cross has assumed all charges for freight, the unit price for those who wish to send standard food parcels is now only $2.40 per package.

The Red Cross fights human suffering 365 days of the year in virtually every community throughout the country. One hundred New Jersey families are being helped by the Red Cross as result of a wind storm which swept over Middlesex and Glouster counties August 25, destroying or damaging over 150 homes.

It was announced recently that Red Cross chapters in the southeastern "hurricane" states have completed last-minute measures to meet any eventuality from all storms.

Since 5,000 graduate nurses have been called to staff the army and navy hospitals, local hospitals and clinics throughout the country have suffered. To meet this situation, the American Red Cross will train a Volunteer Nurses Aid Corps, of 100,000 women, to work without remuneration as assistants to graduate nurses.

The Red Cross has recently appropriated $1,250,000 for the construction of Red Cross army buildings. These are being erected at 62 army camps, and when completed will greatly facilitate the operations of the organization's services to the armed forces of the United States.

The Red Cross is the one organization which is trained and stands ready at a moment's notice everywhere to go to the relief of human suffering. The local chapter, of which C. J. Crary is president, has not only the force of women who are working daily in preparing materials for Red Cross use and distribution, but its full number of committees of local citizens for carrying out the various phases of its work under the national organization.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Times-Mirror.
Dear Sir:

In thanking Warrenites for their cooperation in connection with the blackout and the Aviators' Rendezvous Breakfast, Mr. H. B. Pettit and I forgot to give deserved public thanks to those citizens who donated use of their cars last Sunday morning for the convenience of our guests, and especially to the West Ridge Transportation Company for its civic spirit in providing complimentary bus service at that time. Many expressions of appreciation were heard from the visitors, who said that in no other community which they had visited were the reception so cordial and services so exceptional.

If through your columns you will permit this additional word of thanks, we shall be grateful.

Yours for Warren,
H. W. Correll, Secretary,
Warren Chamber of Commerce.

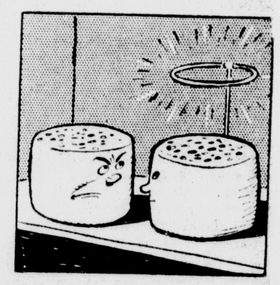
A LAUGHING MATTER

DANNY KAYE'S FAVORITE STORY

(Danny Kaye, the youthful Broadway comedian, found this story making the rounds in Hollywood, where he's been making a picture.)



Two Swiss cheeses on a shelf were arguing about each other's shortcomings.

"Oh you", one finally said very exasperated, "Stop taking that "hole-ier than thou attitude."

The New Supreme Court: Young, Beardless, Liberal

Byrnes Douglas Reed Roberts Stone Black Frankfurter Murphy Jackson

BY ALEX R. GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington — The Supreme Court, which opens its 1941-1942 session Oct. 6, will be the youngest—and from the standpoint of judicial experience, the "greenest"—in more than a century.

Seven of the nine justices will have been members of the high court less than four years. All, excepting the new chief justice, Harlan Stone, and Justice Owen Roberts, have been appointed by President Roosevelt since his unsuccessful attempt to infuse "younger blood" into the court by enlargement to 15 justices and compulsory retirement at the age of 70.

Only two members were judges before coming to the high tribunal. Justice Hugo L. Black was a police judge early in his career and Justice Frank Murphy served as judge of the recorders court in Detroit for several years. Three justices, Stone, Murphy and Robert H. Jackson, are former attorneys general of the United States.

The average age of the court members is 56 compared with 71 when the President launched his court fight in 1937. None is in the "old man" class. The oldest, Chief Justice Stone, is 68. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was 79 when he retired last summer and Oliver Wendell Holmes was over 90 when he left the bench in 1932 because of failing health.

The departure of Hughes leaves the court without a beard or a mustache for the first time since pre-Civil war days. To court visitors the symmetrical white beard and "classic countenance" of the stately Hughes was a near-perfect symbol of the court's traditional dignity. He seemed made to order for the role of No. 1 man in the $8,000,000 white marble temple of justice.

Chief Justice Stone, born on a New Hampshire farm and a progressive Republican, was appointed to the court in 1925 by President Coolidge. Stone, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis then comprised the "liberal minority" on the bench. The court Stone now heads is rated "overwhelmingly liberal."

The two brand-new justices, former Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and ex-Attorney General Robert Jackson, were high-ranking New Dealers.

The other five Roosevelt appointees had prominent New Deal connections: Black on the senatorial front; Felix Frankfurter as a brain-truster from Harvard; Murphy as attorney general and a Michigan political leader; William O. Douglas as professor-chairman of the Security and Exchange commission; and Stanley F. Reed as solicitor general of the United States.

Simple. Just "Supreme Court Of The United States."

FOREST COUNTY ARCHIVES INDEX NOW AVAILABLE

Tionesta — The Inventory to County Archives lately published under sponsorship of the commissioners is still available, but in very limited quantity, J. H. Douglas announced today. He refers to a volume prepared by the Pennsylvania Historical Survey, a program of the Work Projects Administration.

This book serves as a tool for the legal profession in quick reference to documents stored in the courthouse. Whereas before, in order to locate some needed record, they were required to search painstakingly and in many instances, of course, fruitlessly, now attorneys simply have to look in this volume for directions. It reveals at a glance either that some likely assortment of papers is included in the archives or that there is no use searching for the matter desired—it simply is not there.

It is a work of 200 pages attractively arranged, and filled with valuable material. It includes a number of essays, one for each county office; and one treating of county governmental organization in general. The individual essays, besides giving the history of the office at issue, set forth the powers and duties of the various county authorities, and the processes of thought by which their duties were evolved.

In addition it includes a general historical sketch, very brief, but useful in acquiring a background into which to fit the special subject matter above referred to. Also it includes a number of convenient features such as maps, charts, a chronological indext to entries (list of archives contents, a bibliography. The subject index is really helpful, contrary to the general run of that device. Each of the essays carries a number of footnotes documenting the more important matter, and inducing the reader to delve farther into the subject.

The entries pertaining to any given office follow the essay on that office, divided into broad subjects; arranged chronologically according to subject; and designated in numerical sequence. In the essay Recorder of Deeds we note that deeds left for recording but never lifted are kept on file. Naturally, we feel; but had never thought of it. It arouses interest and we find under the entries a subject worded Unclaimed Instruments. No. 104, it reads as follows:

"Old Deeds, 1863-1931. 3 f.b. (dated, and labeled by name of recorder). Deeds left for recording but never lifted, showing names of parties; dates filed and recorded; location and description of property; amounts involved; signatures of parties, witnesses, and recorder; and vol. and p. of recording in Deed Books, entry 94. Arr. chron. by date of filing. No index. Hdw. and typed on ptd. fm. 10x¾x14½." (on pp. 29-30 we find a list of abbreviations which makes the entry clear.)

Of course an attorney would go about this in a different way. If interested he would refer to the subject and the chronological indexes, which is the proper method to employ.

The many essays will provide good source material for anyone desiring to know the county better, whether from the viewpoint of a teacher, student, historian, or citizen simply interested in the community which is his own. It may be supposed that essay writers up here will find this book a valuable reference text, and will employ it for the suggestions it can furnish. It should have a place among the books of every local teacher in the social sciences.

Students Strike When Holiday is Cancelled

(Associated Press Photo)

Several hundred Allentown school pupils stayed away from school Wednesday in protest of cancellation of the annual three-day holiday to permit them to attend the Allentown fair. Here are some shown as they sought to extend the strike. The holiday was cancelled after the city health board banned children 16 years of age and under from the fair.

BROKE LAW TO PAY JUDGMENT

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The law demanded $500 from Charles R. Davenport so the 26-year-old millworker said he broke the law to get it.

"It was an automobile accident in April," Davenport told Magistrate Elias Myers upon arraignment on charges of burglarizing eight homes. "A $500 judgment was rendered against me. I got a loan and then couldn't keep up the payment. I tried this to pay off the loan."

He said he "didn't get much" but detectives set value of loot at $800. Davenport was held for further hearing.

SECRETARY AIDS OPM

Harrisburg, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Mines Secretary Richard Maize has been named by Governor James to co-operate with the Office of Production Management as emergency coordinator of mines for Pennsylvania.

Federal Director Donald M. Nelson asked for selection of a coordinator of mines to obtain emergency repairs, equipment for necessary maintenance, and essential operating supplies direct from their own supplier, so their operating schedules will be maintained."

Mine operators will send to Maize monthly reports of all purchases, and the secretary will report any excessive buying for investigation.

YOUTH IS HURT WHEN AUTO AND BICYCLE CRASH

Thrown from his bicycle when it collided with an automobile at the intersection of the Pleasant township road and the Rieg Hill road, near the entrance to Oakland cemetery about 10:40 o'clock last night, George Cohan, 19, of 201 Eddy street, is in the Warren General Hospital with serious injuries. At the hospital, his condition is described as being fair today.

The local youth was believed to be returning to his home from Pleasant township when the lights on Foulkrod's vehicle seemed to confuse him as to direction, according to motor police from the local barracks who investigated.

Foulkrod was approaching Pleasant township from Warren and was entering the earth road just beyond Oakland cemetery when Cohan, going east on the paved Pleasant road, struck the side of the auto.

The youth suffered a compound fracture of the lower right arm and a large laceration on the arm. He was reported to have a concussion, possible skull fracture and bruises.

Police stated today that Foulkrod would not be held.

In addition to the above ten pairs of glasses and one artificial eye were purchased from the proceeds of the 1940 Daisy Sale.

So far this year the Lions Club have had several requests for glasses, but due to the lack of funds they have had to defer action until after the Daisy Sale.

MAN TO MAN, BLUE AND WHITE HAS BETTER, HEAVIER OUTFIT; CONFIDENT OF LOCAL VICTORY

"Y" Physical Program Outlined at Meeting

A meeting of the physical department was held last night at the Y. M. C. A. at which time several topics were discussed and the skeleton program for the winter months was outlined.

Physical Director Ed Hasler plans to have the senior basketball league again this year, and the business men's volley ball loop, and the exercise room will be open to older men and will be included in the regular program.

The possibilities for a noon business men's class were discussed, and the subject was left under the condition that any men interested in this class communicate with Hasler as soon as possible so that it may be organized without delay.

The tennis courts, it was stated, are still open to members and reservations for the court may be made at any time. The court will probably officially close the end of this month.

With a confident squad of players, yet not too confident to spoil their chances, Coach J. B. Leidig expects to see his charges come home the winner tomorrow when the Dragons entertain Kane High on Russell Field, the kickoff slated for 2:30 p. m. (DST).

The local varsity squad has concentrated its practice this week on their ground attack, which has improved weekly until now it is ready to topple the average grid powers of the district, and the Blue and White forces hope to use this effectively against the Wolves.

With diminutive but clever Bobby Sedon ready to toss any forward passes the Leidigmen will need, the local schoolboys should have little trouble in giving the invaders a complete overhauling which they may add on their ledger to last week's scoreless tie against little Brockway High School.

The Wolves aren't the strong outfit they boasted to be last season now that Bill Hillman has collected his diploma, and Coach Tom Drummond's job is no easy piece of work through which to experience his first campaign as tutor to the Wolves.

Their ground offensive isn't exceptional, having lost other good backs besides the outstanding runner, and a motheaten line gives the backfield little protection against the hard charging and heavy local warriors.

It is expected, as far as practice session form can be trusted, that nearly the same boys which started last week's Girard contest will be back in the fold to await the kickoff tomorrow.

Don Sharp, Albert Salerno and Lloyd Dickerson seem to be sure starters in the backfield, and Sedon is still pressing Dick Kifer hard for the starting quarterback assignment.

On the line the Dragons expect to have Ted Black and McDonald at ends; Frank Peterson and Keith Patchen at tackles; Tony Marasco and Ken Patchen, guards; and Leon Christiansen at the pivot post.

Man to man, the Dragons have the bigger and better team this autumn, and they'll be out to promise vengeance to local fans for the 6-0 licking they absorbed at the hands of Hiliman & Co. before a thousand rain soaked fans at Kane last year, and also win their 22nd victory over the Wolves.

Father, Son Grid Setup is Broken

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 19—(AP)—A doctor's report blasted a brilliant gridiron career and wrote tragic finis today to a second partnership of the football firm of McLaughry and Son.

The report by Dr. Donald C. Munro, the famed brain specialist of Boston City hospital handed a heavy jolt to Deormond "Tuss" McLaughry, who found the last buffet of fate the hardest to take in his new role as head football coach at Dartmouth College—a post in which he succeeded his old pal Earl "Red" Blaik after a long and honorable career at Brown.

For it said that son Bob, a sophomore, reckoned as one of Dartmouth's finest backs and the kid on whom "Tuss" was depending this fall to make his first year here—a great one, must never play football again. He must never engage in any rugged contact sport, for an injury he suffered in spring practice was a fracture of the sixth cervical vertebra—apparently a recurrence of an older injury. In other words, a broken neck, although not as serious as that bald statement might imply.

The kid, almost as big as sturdy brother John, was going to make us forget all about that great blocker and line-backer who sparked his old man's teams at Brown a few years ago.

But even in prep school, "Tuss" always said, Bob was the better player of the two.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 1—(The Special News Service)—Today's Brooklyn "humb song: "Casey balked with a runner on third, and the Bums played on." . . . As soon as that ruckus in Pittsburgh yesterday calmed down a bit, Secretary John McDonald of the Dodged phoned a report to Boss Larry MacPhail. . . . At this end of the line, Larry was overheard demanding: "You call long distance to tell me that Magerkurth is a blanked thousand so?' I knew that all the time." . . The Dodgers just couldn't wait to get back to the eastern half of the league. . . They took a special train to Philadelphia to spend an off day. . . . Middle western papers report that Bill McKechnie gave a demonstration of his ability as a chef the other day and cooked a dozen squirrels. Could that be a backhanded slap at the way Bill's Reds treated our bums? . . . CBS radio news editors report that when they make their daily transAtlantic calls to line up the broadcasts from Europe, the first thing they hear is, "How did the Dodgers make out?"

Today's Guest Star

Jack Singer, New York Journal-American: "Bill Terry notified the press that Burgess Whitehead, who is suffering from a torn ligament in his shoulder, would remain with the Giants in the capacity of a pinch runner. Terry apparently is working on the mistaken theory that the Giants are going to get a runner on base."

Odds, And Some Ends

CUTS MADE ON RED JACKET TEAM; EXPECT HARD GAME THIS SUNDAY

Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris trimming their squad down to the twenty-two players to be carried this season, each Red Jacket candidate remaining on the list is working for two things this week, and plenty of enthusiasm is subsequently being shown in the nightly drills at Beaty Field.

The first of the two objectives to be reached by these players is to gain a certain berth, to show well in rehearsals and Sunday's game to guarantee their place in the Jacket lineup, and the other is to get set to tackle "Whitey" Fowle's reputable Pace A. C. Sunday afternoon.

Knowing that a victory over the invaders would give the current western Pennsylvania champions an endorsement on this year's Jacket edition, every player is preparing himself individually to be at his best for the game with the Pacers.

Fowle's club is a heavy outfit, one that will be capable of matching the Red Jackets pound for pound on the line, and boasting a similar backfield to that of the locals. They come no better than "Whitey," and he promises to be in the lineup here Sunday to once again sport his wares before Jacket fans.

Blossey was cut from the squad this week, it was definitely announced last night, and Harry Ganza, the big boy from Erie Tech, will either become a line candidate for the pros or else will not be seen in future action here according to present plans.

As for the remainder of the squad, it is still about the same as at the start except for the vacancies left by Murphy and Whisner who now are with the New York Americans (Yankees) and will hit the road this fall.

An addition has been made to the candidates with Harry Rosequist's young brother now a prospect, and a bright one, to cop one of the end berths as soon as he learns the signals and plays used by the team. Hailing from Warren, Ohio, young Rosequist is fast and average weight, around 170 pounds, making a worthy gridder for a terminal post, that position presently giving the Jackets trouble.

The club will hold its final drill tonight at Beaty Field and then will rest over Saturday before the kickoff at 2:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon. With interest growing in the professional season, and the Jackets developing one of the strongest aggregations ever seen locally, Sunday's crowd should eclipse last week's throng which welcomed the team back in Warren for another campaign.

PETER REISER A SHOO-IN TO COP PLAYER HONORS

BY DUKE MORAN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19—(AP)—The next nine narrowing days will decide whether the Brooklyn Dodgers will wear the National League crown but there's a lad in their midst today who already seems a shoo-in for a bunch of individual honors.

He's two-gun Pete Reiser, who may end his first full season as a major leaguer wearing the triple-plated crown of batting champion, outstanding rookie and most valuable player to his team. To this record might be added the title of "personality champ" for this unassuming kid. The extra honor is not due to high-powered assets such as a glib tongue and a glad hand but rather to Pete's consummate modesty over his astonishing deeds.

Reiser looks like the fresh-faced youngster next door but he hits baseballs like a demon and currently ranks among the greatest clutch hitters for his habit of inserting base knocks when the fighting Flatbushers most need 'em.

Lippy Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooks, calls Outfielder Pete one of "the best young players I ever saw."

Golfers Tee Off In Quaker City

Philadelphia, Sept. 19—(AP)—Golf's big name players—amateur as well as professional—set out today in quest of prize money or glory in the inaugural $7,500 Henry Hurst Invitation Tournament with the consensus that a score of 275 would win the top $1,200 award.

The prediction that five-under-par golf for the 72 holes of play would take first money came from Fred Corcoran, professional golfers association tournament chairman. Such stars as Byron Nelson, Ed "Porky" Oliver, Ben Hogan and George Fazio agreed.

Co-favorites to make the prediction good were Hogan, the leading money winner of the year; Nelson, former Open and P. G. A. champion; Sam Snead, winner of $9,988 in tournament prizes this year; Craig Wood, current U. S. Open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, who copped last week's $5,000 Atlantic City Open.

In the field of 88 expected for the initial 18-hole round at Torresdale-Frankford course, however, were Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. champion, Marvin "Bud" Ward, National Amateur champion, Lawson Little, Clayton Heafner, Jim Demaret, Jug McSpadden, Paul Runyan and a host of others, anyone of whom is capable of causing an upset. After another 18 holes tomorrow, the low 45 scorers will battle it out over the 36-hole route Sunday.

Harmon Makes Hit With Draft Board

Gary, Ind., Sept. 19—(AP)—Tom Harmon, top grade football player, is in the same class in the draft.

A selective service board placed the former Michigan All-America halback in Class 1 last night, making him subject to immediate physical examination to determine if he is ready for service at once.

The board denied Harmon's request that he be placed in class 3-A on the ground his parents were dependent on him. His father is a retired steelworker.

LIPPY LEO IS THROWN OUT OF COLORFUL BALL GAME IN 8th; REDBIRDS BEATEN BY BOSTON

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Brooklyn Dodgers won't win the National League baseball championship maybe they will go after Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing crown.

They took their minds off baseball long enough yesterday to lose a critical game to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, and they also lost their preliminary venture into the heavyweight class to Umpire Magerkurth, a man mountain weighing about 225 pounds and 6 6 feet 4 inches tall.

But the fates which protest little children—and the Dodgers—saw them through their hours of travail once again by bringing the Boston Braves a 4-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. This kept Brooklyn in front by one game with the standings:

	W.	L.	GTP
Brooklyn	93	52	9
St. Louis	91	52	10

The rumpus at Pittsburgh was one of those wild sideshows for which the delirious Dodgers have become famous.

The game was tense all the way, with the Pirates hopping on Fred Fitzsimmons for four runs in the fourth, and Johnny Lanning holding the Dodgers to two singles through seven scoreless innings.

The volcano really erupted in the eighth.

The Dodgers dug up five runs in a breath-taking rally after two were out.

Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin went to the mound and gave a single to the first batter, Vince DiMaggio, who reached second as Joe Medwick fumbled. Big, Chubby Hugh Casey was rushed in and got the next two men out, with DiMaggio moving to third. He also got two strikes on Al Lopez. Then he balked and Umpire Magerkurth waved DiMaggio home with the tying run. There was a mass protest by the Dodgers which lasted for five minutes.

Casey was infuriated, however, and threw the next three balls over the heads of Magerkurth, Lopez and his own catcher, Mickey Owen. Magerkurth went to the mound and told him, "You can't make a travesty of this ball game."

Durocher stormed at Magerkurth in language that the umpire later termed "bitter."

The umpire ordered Lippy Leo out of the game. Casey walked Lopez, Alf Anderson tripled the winning run home.

The feud with Magerkurth continued under the stands after the game until tough little Umpire Bill Stewart broke up the wrangling. Durocher broke up some chairs in the dressing room but this didn't do the Dodgers any good.

What did do them some good was Boston's beating the Cards 4 to 1. Frank Demaree got his only hit of the series in the first inning—a homer with two on—and Gene Moore clouted another with the bases empty in the sixth. With this backing, Manny Salvo held the Cards to six hits and won easily.

The Redbirds would have taken the lead by two percentage points if they had won. They play the Chicago Cubs today while the Dodgers have an open date, but victory still would leave them a half game out of first place.

In yesterday's other games, the Cincinnati Reds swept their second straight doubleheader from the Phillies, 5-0 and 9-2.

The Cubs took fifth place away from the New York Giants by beating them, 7-1, on the four-hit hurling of Jake Mooty and a six-run rally in the seventh inning.

Bob Feller acquired his 24th victory with an eight-hit pitching job that gave Cleveland a 6-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. The Washington Senators repulsed the St. Louis Browns, 9-8.

BANQUET HELD TO HONOR RECS SOFTBALL TEAM

A very enjoyable softball banquet was held last evening in the club rooms in honor of this year's Recreation Center team with nearly all of the players present and other specially invited guests of honor making the occasion an overwhelming success.

A delicious dinner was served those attending and following the meal and a few short speeches, the evening was spent by nearly everyone in reminiscing various instances of color in this and other year's softball races.

Frank Williams, club officer, served capably in the role of toastmaster for the occasion and also as a worthy member of the committee in charge of the festival.

Mel Johnson, president of this year's circuit, Manger "Flat" Bonavita of the Recs, "Cutsy" Castagnino, popular umpire, and Floyd Passinger, Times-Mirror sports editor, paid brief respects to the team and league for the way in which it was managed throughout.

Dick Harrison, who ably assisted Johnson in deciding protests and who it was intended should be present last night, was forced to stay away from the festivities, being ill at the present time. All present gave a rising vote of thanks to Dick for his efforts.

The Recreation Center seemed to be the best team, man for man, in the circuit this year but lost out to the K. of C. in the playoffs. Tony Hahn, one of the best players ever to be produced on local softball diamonds, was lost to the team shortly before the series with the Caseys, taking with him a great percentage of the Recs' offensive hitting power. Hahn was injured while working at Struthers-Wells, and is just being removed from the hospital to his home this week.

With a vow that next year would be different, the team and the others present all went to the club parlors for an evening of entertainment.

PAUL YAGGE GOES BET TO TAKE STATE RIFLE CROWN AT DUBOIS SATURDAY; DODGERS LUCKY, BUT SHOULD GIVE YANKS RUN IF THEY CLASH

Paul Yagge caught us off guard yesterday and slipped a couple of words in concerning the coming state .30 calibre rifle championship shoot to be decided at DuBois Saturday and Sunday. And the keen local sharpshooter passed along details of the meet, including the Warren riflemen who will participate in the individual shoot on Saturday. Besides Yagge, Freeman O. Peterson, Alf Nelson and E. M. "Hoppy" Marlowe will make the weekend trip, all of them entering the meet for individual honors and Nelson with Yagge expecting to place on the west's six-man team for the east-west meet on Sunday to decide the six-man championship. With some of the nation's best shooters hailing from Pennsylvania and most of them being ready to fire in the event, competition will be plenty keen for the local men. Yagge, in practice recently, shot 187 over the course and believes anyone shooting 185 or above will cop the individual title. Highly confident that he can do as well again, the local insurance man hopes to come home with a blue ribbon. This community's entrants seldom take a back seat to any in the state in such firing, though such shooters as Rk. Nelson, DuBois, outstanding in this sport, and many other top-notchers intend to have something to say about settling the individual title.

Though the Dodgers seem to have fate and luck on their side, the steaming finish in the National League pennant race will be taken by a really deserving club if they win, though the same can be said about the Cards. But in view of the fact that breaks win ball games, it must be remembered that the team benefiting must take advantage of them. And this was the case of the Dodgers in eking out a victory, one of many of its kind, in Pittsburgh Wednesday by a 6-4 score. Behind 3-1, they scored three runs to go ahead in the top half of the ninth. Then with the bases loaded and two out, an infield grounder that should have been an easy out took a bad hop over Stu Martin's head, allowing two additional runs. Fortunately, the Brooks were in a position to make the most of this, and the base runners came trotting over the pan in short order. But credit for that victory can't be kept from the Flatbush Wonders, for the first three runs came via sharp, clean hits, and the bet would be even that eventually they would have emerged the winner. Of the two teams, Dodgers and Redbirds, we feel the latter is the better club, but, as you all know, injuries have spared nothing on the Cardinal lineup, and this will serve as a reasonable explanation for the Cards if they don't win the flag. It's no alibi, for records show that in the few occasions this year when the full lineup was together Billy Southworth's Gas Housers were the hottest thing in the National, and now would undoubtedly have the pennant sewed on their flag pole. Regardless of who wins in the senior circuit, this corner is out on the limb now to tell you that the Yanks are going to get a run for their money, and it will be quite a show.

Quickies . . . Most baseball writers agree that the Cincy Reds weren't great champions, but certainly were game . . . And when speaking of the injury jinx, don't forget that was the reason for the Rhinelanders losing a good many contests this summer, also . . . Grantland Rice in his famed column, "The Sportlight", recently suggested to other major league clubs that they hustle like the Yanks, Dodgers and Cards . . . The noted sports writer denounced most of the other thirteen outfits, contending they have altogether too much of the feeling of "what's the difference?" in both loops . . . Let's second the motion . . . In case you haven't thought of it, Nova and Louis go in New York a week from Monday night, and the prediction is that the gate will draw between $750,000 and one million . . . Our prediction, Louis by a kayo—but quick . . . Well, gentlemen, now that everybody is agreeing that the T formation won't work without the proper material, tell us, please, what makes any formation work? . . . Arguments saying many teams can do other formations well, but not the "T", don't stand to reason, unless those able to toss a "T" party can do every other formation just a bit better than the other teams . . . If this isn't the case, then the whole argument goes into the waste basket, because no team can win all their games on a lone formation . . . Not even Stanford or the Chicago Bears, masters of the "T" formation . . . Both mix it with many other kinds, and frequently.

BILL GALLON IS SET TO RUN IN DELAWARE

Delaware, O., Sept. 19—(AP)—Bill Gallon, 1941 Hambletonian winner, goes today as the "roaring grand" circuit winds up its four-day meeting here, but anything that happens will be an anti-climax.

The experts have it that Bill Gallon, despite his win in the big Goshen, N. Y., classic, will be beaten in today's start, the three-year-old star not liking the half-mile tracks.

The word "mausoleum" is derived from reference to the building erected in honor of Mausolus by his wife

Adolf Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, said the guns of Kronstadt, emplaced above a 23-foot ship channel between Leningrad's harbor and deep waters of the Gulf of Finland to the west, had been blasted out of action by a coordinated attack of German dive-bombers and land batteries arrayed along the south shore of Kronstadt bay.

Both Germany and Russia were affected by international incidents growing out of the war.

Japan was reported by Koh Ishii, Tokyo government spokesman, to have protested to the Soviet embassy for a second time against floating Russian mines in the Sea of Japan as menaces to navigation.

Two vessels—a Korean sailing ship and a Japanese fishing boat—were declared to have been sunk by the mines with a loss of 13 lives. A mine field protects Vladivostok, Russian far eastern port to which United States supplies are moving, on the Sea of Japan.

The west coast operators said union demands would pay a sailor $2,510 for a four-months trip to the Red Sea. Included in the scale of demands is a bonus of $300 for entering Suez, where the Arkansan was bombed.

Government seizure of the three Alcoa vessels will be followed by action on the 11 other struck vessels, Captain Granville Conway, commission district director indicated. The president of the Alcoa Line said he believed the commission was prepared to take over the entire Alcoa fleet of more than 50 ships.

cause of the blast probably never would be known, since it could have been set off by a shock, friction or a change of temperature.

The blast ripped the truck and its driver to bits, scattering debris over a wide area. Early arrivals on the scene said they found no pieces of the truck large enough to establish identification of the machine or its driver, but the truck was later identified.

According to information received here, the car bearing Martin and Streeter was following the truck. The explosion blasted off the front end of their car, which leaped a 30-foot crater caused when the glycerine truck exploded. The passenger vehicle was turned into a twisted mass of wreckage.

The explosion leveled trees for a distance of 100 yards along both sides of the highway. The force of the blast pulled the leaves from the trees into the crater in the asphalt pavement, which was 12 feet deep.

Ed Fitzgerald, of Bradford, trailing the Martin-Streeter car in another car in which his wife and another woman were passengers, reported:

"The force of the explosion stopped my car. They (Martin and Streeter) apparently were preparing to pass the truck when the blast let go."

Extensive "five-spotting" oil operations are being carried on about a mile west of the point of the blast by the Minard Run Oil Company and the Forest Oil Corporation.

Martin and Streeter were en route to Oil City for a conference with other oil men in connection with the district producers' fight to have the recently imposed price ceiling on Pennsylvania oil lifted or revised.

Streeter, a member of the firm of Bradley, Carter and Streeter, was chairman of a producers' fact-finding committee delegated to prepare data on production costs at a forthcoming hearing in Washington on the producers' protests against the price fixing order.

It was stated this afternoon that five blood donors had been summoned in an effort to save Streeter's life.

He has extensive oil holdings in both the Bradford and Allegany districts.

Gloss, believed to have been the driver of the truck, has three sons, the youngest of whom was born only two weeks ago. The other children are aged one and two and a half years.

Germans Claim Four Soviet Armies Ringed With Steel

TRAPPED RED FORCES UNOFFICIALLY SAID TO BE HALF MILLION MEN

BULLETIN

Berlin, Sept. 19—(AP)—The German High Command announced tonight that the Germans had entered Kiev and that the German flag was flying on the citadel there.

By the Associated Press

German armies sweeping across the Dnieper river 200 miles east of Kiev have captured Poltava, only 80 miles from the big Ukraine industrial center of Kharkov, and other Nazi forces are engaged in annihilating four Russian armies trapped in the central Ukraine, Adolf Hitler's high command said today.

Kharkov is the chief industrial city of the Donets river basin.

The trapped Red armies, unofficially estimated at 500,000 troops, were reported caught in a steel ring 125 miles east of Kiev.

"Their annihilation is now in progress," the German high command said.

Simultaneously, grave new threats imperilled Kiev itself and the great northern metropolis of Leningrad.

More than 3,600,000 Soviet troops were declared to have been slain or captured in the three-months-old campaign. Half were killed, the Nazi high command said.

On the historic ratio of three wounded to every one killed in past wars, this would mean that Red army losses totalled the staggering figure of 9,000,000 men, including some 5,400,000 wounded.

German losses were put at only 402,865 killed, wounded and missing in the first two months of the war.

In a special bulletin, Hitler's field headquarters said German army groups under Field Marshal General Gerd von Rundstedt and Field Marshal General Fedor von Bock, slashing around Kiev in a vast flanking movement, had met beyond the Desna river to trap the Russians.

Finnish military dispatches said huge fires were raging in Leningrad, blazing so fiercely they could be seen with the naked eye in broad daylight from Finnish territory.

Other Nazi reports said Stuka dive bombers had silenced the guns of Kronstadt fortress, powerful island naval base 20 miles from Leningrad, thus paving the way for German warships to steam up the Gulf of Finland and shell the old czarist capital at close range.

A Red army bulletin acknowledged that the Germans had reached one of Kiev's gates, but indicated that the struggle had not yet reached a decisive phase.

German dispatches said other Nazi armies, sweeping eastward beyond the Dnieper river, had pushed about half way to Kharkov, in the heart of the Donets river industrial basin, 270 miles east of Kiev.

New pressure was reported, too, on the long-sieged Black Sea port of Odessa, where the Germans said they dropped more than 220,000 pounds of bombs in a single night attack.

The German High Command, releasing casualty figures on the first two months of the 90-day-old struggle, said German losses were 84,354 killed, 292,690 wounded and 18,921 missing. German air force losses for the two-month period were given as 1,542 dead, 3,980 wounded and 1,378 missing.

Russian prisoners were listed at more than 1,800,000 since the beginning of the conflict, with the number of Soviet killed rated considerably higher.

British estimates yesterday said the Russians had lost 3,000,000 men and the Germans 2,000,000.

Authoritative London quarters, acknowledging that the loss of coal and oil fields, steel plants and other war industries in the Ukraine had dealt a sore blow to the Russians, declared nevertheless that the U. S. S. R. could maintain a large army in the field even if the Germans overran the Donets in-

U. S. PUBLISHER SEES ULTIMATE RUSSIAN VICTORY

Ankara, Turkey, Sept. 18—(Delayed)—(AP)—Ralph Ingersoll, publisher of the New York newspaper PM, who arrived in Ankara today from Moscow, said he believed the Germans might take a few more "limited objectives" in Russia but ultimately would be stopped.

Then a mass of American material appearing on the Russian front will be felt, he said.

He praised the Russian staff work, which he declared demonstrated its excellence by holding together a 2,000-mile line against "the most efficient army in the world."

The front is actually 200 miles deep, with fighting going on all through that distance, Ingersoll stated. He described the German panzer tactics as continually surrounding Russian forces ranging from companies to divisions, with the Russians repeatedly sifting out of the encirclement, though often losing their equipment in doing so.

Loss of material on both sides has been heavy, he said, and it is plain that the issue is one of German factory production against that of the United States plus the

STATES SENATE FOR REPEAL OF NEUTRALITY ACT

Opposition Leader in Washington Admits Administration Can Win Vote in Upper Body if Issue is Raised There

HOUSE IS DOUBTFUL

BY JACK BELL

Washington, Sept. 19—(AP)—A leading opposition strategist conceded today that the administration could win Senate approval—by the margin of a dozen votes—if it sought outright repeal of neutrality act in furtherance of its program of aiding Britain.

Pointing out that any such proposal was likely to provoke heated and lengthy debate in both houses, this legislator said an informal count indicated opponents of repeal could muster no more than 37 votes, 12 short of a majority.

He declined, however, to speculate on the outcome in the House. Some observers have said that the division of opinion there is sharp and much in doubt, although the action of the American Legion this week in urging outright repeal of the law was expected to have some effect.

This evident uncertainty, as well as the prospect of a long argument on all of the aspects of the act, has caused administration leaders to consider only partial revision of the law to permit the arming of American merchant ships plying in the "defense waters" from which President Roosevelt has ordered the navy to clear Axis warcraft.

A proposal of that nature would leave temporarily undisturbed the law's other major prohibition against American vessels carrying war supplies directly to bel-

DEMAND REBEL MINERS RETURN

Hazleton, Sept. 19—(AP)—The United Mine Workers of America today called on an estimated 20,000 anthracite miners revolting against payment of increased union dues and assessments to return to work and present their grievances to a fact finding commission but there was no immediate indication of acceptance.

A commission representing the international board of the powerful CIO union presented the request a few hours after insurgent leader Garrett Miller told a gathering of his followers the work stoppage would continue until the union cancels increases of dues and assessments. A committee directing the revolt was summoned this afternoon to act on the commission plan.

MORE SHIP SEIZURES FORECAST

Three Merchant Vessels of The Great Alcoa Fleet are Under Federal Requisition and Others May Be Taken Over as Dispute Between Seamen and Owners Over War Bonuses Spreads

THREATENS SUPPLIES IN OFF-SHORE BASES

New York, Sept. 19—(AP)—Three merchant ships of the great Alcoa fleet were under federal requisition today and the government was ready to seize others as a dispute between seamen and owners over war bonuses threatened to burgeon into a general strike.

An estimated 14 ships of six companies were reported struck last night including the three vessels seized, the Alcoa Trader, Alcoa Banner and Alcoa Scout, owned by a subsidiary of the Aluminum Co. of America.

The strike was called Saturday by the Seafarers International Union (AFL) to enforce demands for increased bonuses for war-zone travel. No specific amounts were asked, except for a $60 monthly bonus for travel in the West Indies, which would thus become a war zone, as are Canadian waters, where a dollar-a-day bonus is paid.

Concerned over supplies for American offshore bases in the West Indies, the Maritime Commission set noon yesterday as the deadline for submission of the dispute to arbitration. The commission acted when the union refused to arbitrate and threatened a general strike. The seized vessels are at Weehawkan, N. J.

The union later announced it was willing to submit the dispute to arbitration but only on condition that the arbitrators considered the union's proposal that a $60 monthly bonus be paid to seamen plying West Indies waters.

At the same time on the Pacific coast, the Pacific American Shipowners Association asked govern-

SCHOOLS IN NINE COUNTIES WILL REMAIN CLOSED

Harrisburg, Sept. 19—(AP)—On the theory "We'd rather be safe than sorry" Dr. A. Hamilton Stewart, acting secretary of health, has directed schools to remain closed until September 29 in nine central counties where infantile paralysis has struck oftenest in the current outbreak.

The postponement of opening was the third since the start of September and meant extending the summer vacation for 260,000 school children in the areas nearly a month.

Dr. Stewart and Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the Bureau of Health Conservation, issued the closing order after the 30th victim succumbed to the disease. More than 400 persons have been afflicted.

The counties affected are Dauphin, York, Cumberland, Lebanon, Lancaster, Schuylkill, Northumberland, Montgomery and Cambria. Schools were to have opened there next Monday. The ban was lifted in two other counties—Adams and Franklin—this week.

"The situation in the nine counties is not getting any worse, but it's no better and new cases have been reported in all of them this week," Dr. Stewart said.

In other parts of the state the outlook "generally is pretty good", the health official said, and restrictions are unlikely there although cases have been reported in 56 of the 67 counties.

Cambria county reported its 21st case overnight, 12-year-old Donald Griffith becoming the eleventh child in Johnstown to be stricken. Thirteen sufferers already have been released from quarantine in the area.

PLEDGES KEPT TO THE LETTER GOVERNOR SAYS

State Executive is Speaker At Testimonial Dinner And Rally Held in Honor Of James F. Torrance at Altoona Thursday

PRAISE FOR CHAIRMAN

Altoona, Sept. 19—(AP)—State Republican Chairman James F. Torrance, speaking at a testimonial dinner and rally held in his honor last night, said the administration of Governor Arthur H. James has reduced the commonwealth's deficit by $47,500,000 in the past two years.

James, National Republican Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and Blair county Judge George G. Patterson were other speakers at the affair, attended by cabinet members, legislative leaders, county and state Republican leaders, and the party's candidates for the appellate courts.

Torrance predicted that a continuation of present trends would find Pennsylvania with a balanced budget—"and possibly a surplus"—in 1943.

Governor James, speaking extemporaneously, told the gathering:

"Republican pledges made to you have been kept to the letter. Promises made not for the benefit of the party nor an individual, but for the men and women of the state, have been carried out to the best of our ability."

He credited Torrance with "much of the work that has been accomplished in the way of revitalizing Pennsylvania's economic and industrial stature."

YOUNG LAWYER IS LEGION HEAD

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 19—(AP)—Lynn U. Stambaugh, of Fargo, N. D., new national commander of the American Legion, took charge of the organization's affairs today with the statement he would carry forward the decision of the national convention to promote "unswerving support" of the government's foreign policy.

He is a 51-year old attorney who entered the World War as a private in 1917 and was commissioned a second lieutenant while serving overseas. He succeeded Milo J. Warner, of Toledo, O.

Stambaugh listed among the objectives of the Legion the defeat of Hitler, repeal of the United States' neutrality act and the use of American troops wherever the government needs them to keep war away from the United States.

He said that the Legion's refusal to go on record against lend-lease aid to Russia did not change

ELECTRICIANS AT KANSAS CITY BACK AT WORK

Final Settlement of Controversy That Resulted in Blackout Comes After Company Agrees to Permit Ringleaders to Return

INDUSTRIES RESUME

Kansas City, Sept. 19—(AP)—The surprise strike of electrical workers which began with a four-hour blackout and for two days kept Kansas City on pins and needles ended today.

Members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers voted 184 to 2 to return to their jobs at 7 a. m. (CST) and pickets withdrew from the two plants of the Kansas City Power and Light Company.

Final settlement came after company officials agreed to permit eight workers accused of sabotage during the walkout to return on the same basis as other employes.

The eight are charged with malicious destruction of property because of their part in the unheralded shutdown which plunged the city into paralyzing darkness.

The strike was called Tuesday midnight after the Defense Mediation Board referred back to the National Labor Relations Board and the U. S. circut court of appeals a dispute between the IBEW and the Independent Union of Utility Employes over which should represent 200 overhead workers and a dozen employes in the steam department.

The union will follow the request of the Mediation Board, I. B. E. W. President Fred Riddell said today, that the men return to work while an investigation of the dispute is made and cases pending before the NLRB and the U. S. court of appeals are expedited.

Skeleton crews of non-striking employes, under police protection, supplied the city with lights and power while negotiators worked toward a truce.

CURFEW IMPOSED BY OCCUPATION CHIEF IN PARIS

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Sept. 19—(AP)—The Germans announced today that two Communists were shot this morning for demonstrations in Paris against the German occupation as strife between the population and Nazi troops continued.

The executions followed new restrictions effective today upon all residents of the Seine department, which included the city of Paris.

"I will no longer allow the lives of German soldiers to be threatened by murderers," declared the German commander of occupied France.

In the latest of a series of restrictive measures, which began August 23 after a German officer was stabbed to death in a subway, Col.-Gen. Heinrich Von Stuehlpnagel issued a strict three-day curfew beginning tomorrow.

Traffic in the department w- prohibited from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m., and all theaters, restaurants and amusement places were ordered to close at 8 p. m. during the three days.

Violators of regulations will be arrested and held as hostages.

German army units were ordered to patrol all streets.

On August 23, Lieut.-Gen. Von Schaumburg, commander of the German troops in Paris, ordered all Frenchmen arrested by or for German authorities in France held as hostages for the subway assassination.

This order also declared that for any furthtr acts hostages would be shot in numbers according to the gravity of the offense. There have been a number of incidents since then, including attacks on German soldiers in Paris, and some Frenchmen have been shot in reprisal.

Roosevelt Takes Action to Insure That Civilian-Dominated Agencies Administer Measure Affecting Raw Materials

CONFLICT DISCLOSED

BY LLOYD LEHRBAS

Washington, Sept. 19—(AP)—President Roosevelt, informed quarters reported today, has rejected proposals that would have placed a greater degree of control over defense industry in military, instead of civilian hands.

Refusing recommendations designed to extend the army's authority, Mr. Roosevelt took action to insure that the civilian-dominated governmental agencies administer measures affecting the supply of raw materials, priorities, production and export control.

The president's decision was the major development to date in what was described as a long and spirited behind-the-scenes battle for control of defense production and regulation of export trade.

Disclosure of the conflict followed the president's executive order of Sept. 15 which transferred the export control administration to the economic defense board headed by Vice President Wallace.

By that order the president not only transferred the hitherto separate, army-controlled export control administration to the vice president's board, but reduced it to a subordinate division which will be headed by a civilian, Milo Perkins, former head of the commodity credit corporation.

In the behind-the-scenes conflict, informed sources said, members of one faction described the others as "New Dealers" and were, in turn, called "Army Bureaucrats."

The so-called "New Dealers" charged that the "Army Bureaucrats" had ambitious plans—even to the point of preparing proposed executive orders for the president's signature—which would expand and extend the export control administration's powers until it would be in control of the major part of defense industries.

The military faction denied any ambitions to control industry.

FACTORY EMPLOYMENT JUMPS 23 PER CENT.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19—(AP)—Wage payments in Pennsylvania last month were 48 per cent above August, 1940, figure while factory employment jumped 23 per cent in the same period, the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia reports.

The bank, in its monthly survey of business and industrial conditions, reported wage payments totalled approximately $34,900,000 weekly during August, representing a four per cent increase over July and a 76 per cent jump above pre-war levels. Factory employment was estimated at 1,145,000.

CLANDESTINE GERMAN STATION IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A preliminary investigation has partially confirmed information that an unauthorized airfield and a clandestine Nazi radio station were operating near Las Palmas in Chiapas state, the ministry of communications reported today.

The announcement said the original reports of the airfield and station came from Governor Rafael Pascasco Gamboa, governor of the state.

Inspector Jesus Aguilera, assigned to check the governor's advices, has found substantiating evidence and the investigation will continue, the ministry said.

BRADFORD PRODUCER IS VICTIM

Explosion Which Occurs on Route 59, Short Distance From Custer City Shortly Before Noon Today, Takes Life of Driver, and J. Clifford Martin, Well Known Official of Penn'a Grade Crude Oil Association

THIRD MAN IS IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

A nitro-glycerine truck, enroute to Warren, exploded on the Warren-Bradford highway, Route 59, shortly before noon today, killing the truck driver and a prominent oil producer and critically injuring another widely known oil man. The oil men were passengers in a car following the truck along the highway.

The blast killed J. Clifford Martin, of Bradford, executive secretary of the Bradford District Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Producers Association, and injured Martin's companion, Clarendon Streeter, of Bradford, one of the largest producers in the district oil fields, so seriously that physicians held little hope that he might survive.

The explosion blew to pieces the truck and the driver, identified by the American Glycerine Company as John Gloss, Jr., 24, of Irvine Mills, N. Y. Gloss, who was driving from a glycerine supply house, either at Wellsville or Friendship, N. Y., was on his way to Warren.

Veteran oil field men said the

STUDY IS MADE OF TAX MEASURE

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 19—(AP)—President Roosevelt said at his press conference today that he did not know exactly when he would sign the nation's biggest tax bill, a $3,553,400,000 measure which he brought with him from Washington.

The president, arrived this morning for a short stay at his ancentral home, said he thought 48 hours was not too long to study the bill and said that holding it up a day or so would not cost the government anything.

Mr. Roosevelt began the conference by asserting that he had no news today, and for the first time in months his press conference failed to produce a single important story.

News men brought up a wide range of subjects, but Mr. Roosevelt was not inclined to talk about them.

For the time being, books were the president's chief concern. But he indicated that later in the day he would get around to thumbing through the big revenue bill and various analyses of it which the treasury has prepared for him.

Mr. Roosevelt expected to remain here over the weekend, resting, getting in some measure of work, and helping to settle the estate of his mother who died September 7.

Rapidly Mounting Interest in the Times-Mirror Baby Election Noted

Today the office of the favorite baby election editor was a busy place indeed; some called to lend their encouragement to the project and to compliment the idea as a whole. Many wanted to know more about the rules for entering and just what had to be done to gain a place for their favorite in the list of nominees. The election and trade expansion is being sponsored by The Times-Mirror.

The answer is simple. You need only come to the election headquarters and fill in the nomination coupon for your favorite, or if it is more convenient to phone in the nomination just call Warren 2125, and give the name of the vivacious youngster you want to enter for the election honors and big cash awards that go to the winners and if possible bring or send a good picture of the baby.

Remember, there is no cost involved in any way. You don't need to even have a picture. For those who don't the Times-Mirror election editor has arranged to make the photograph without cost to the parent. Only an order from the Favorite Baby Election Editor upon Bairstow Studio to have the picture made is necessary. Could there be anything easier?

NINE TO LEAVE FOR INDUCTION AT FORT MEADE

Nine Warren county men will leave Monday morning at ten o'clock for Fort Meade, Md., to be inducted into the U. S. Army under the Selective Service system. The men will travel over the Pennsylvania railroad, leaving from the local station.

Originally fixed at eleven, the local quota was reduced by the dropping of two men from the list of Local Board No. 2. Philip M. Irvine, of Tidioute, enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve at Buffalo after passing his final examination in Erie. Ernest P. Burik, of R. D. 1, Columbus, was granted a deferment order to assist with the harvesting on his parents' farm.

BOARD NO. 1 MOVES

It was announced today that Local Draft Board No. 1 has moved its office from the seventh floor of the Warren Bank and Trust Company building to room 604 on the sixth floor of the same building. The telephone number will still be the same, 1682. Local Board No. 2 will remain in its office on the seventh floor.

Those from Board No. 1 who are leaving Monday include Maurice H. Anderson, Paul M. Danielson, Arthur M. Torrey and Charles H. Aubitz, all of Warren.

Those from Board No. 2 to be inducted are John W. Collage, R. D. 1, Grand Valley; John J. Wawrejko, R. D. 2, Corry; William C. Calan, Box 240, Warren; Henry P. Putnam, R. D. 1, Grand Valley, and Joseph Franco, of R. D. 1 Torpedo.

T. B. SEAL SALE DISCUSSED AT OIL CITY MEET

Homer M. Mohr, Mrs. Rose Sigworth and Mrs. Richard Schlaack were Warren county's representatives to the meeting held Wednesday in Oil City by tuberculosis workers of northwestern Pennsylvania.

Delegates from Warren, Forest, McKean, Erie, Elk, Crawford and Venango counties were addressed by Miss Frances Brophy, of the Christmas Seal Sale Service of the National Tuberculosis Association.

"This country faces an emergency in the struggle to control tuberculosis", Miss Brophy stated. "Statistics of every country have proved that in times of war tuberculosis has flared up and spread. But, if every possible safeguard is thrown up, the fatal increase can be prevented.

"The record in Pennsylvania is not reassuring because tuberculosis deaths increased during the first part of 1941 as compared with 1940. It is timely that the 1941 Christmas Seal will picture a lighthouse whose light symbolizes the work of the tuberculosis organizations in their constant fight. Combatting tuberculosis is urgently needed in building up both civilian and military defense."

Residents of Warren and vicinity were treated to one of the most brilliant aurora borealis displays last night ever witnessed in this section.

Starting shortly after dark, the Northern Lights swept across the sky in an ever changing variety of colors and patterns, continuing until a late hour.

An unusual feature was that the lights, unlike their common name, did not originate from the northern skies. The first display extended from east to west and later to the south. At the height of the display filled the entire sky.

As soon as the lights started, hundreds of Warren residents hurried to Washington Park, Rieg Hill and other points of vantage to witness the spectacle. In Warren, every unobstructed spot was used by someone to watch the sky show.

The display started shortly after 8 p. m., with several long pencil-like beams sweeping across the sky from east to west. The ribbons of light later began to widen and the illumination spread throughout the sky.

As the light reached their height almost every color of the rainbow could be seen. The effect was a beautiful dome of vari-colored lights that proved awe-inspiring to those who saw the display.

One of the principal effects of the aurora borealis here was in the sudden surge of traffic experienced at the local office of the Bell Telephone Company, it was reported later.

Under normal conditions, it was stated this morning, the average number of calls transmitted through the central office here between 8 and 9 o'clock is 1,570. However, during this period last night, there were 2,530 calls handled, which is 960 more than normal. Most of the increase was in the 20-minute period from 8:45 to 9:05, while the display was at its height.

Officials of the company said all available extra operators were called in as soon as the increase in traffic became apparent. However, it was impossible to cope with the sudden rise in the number of calls and some people may have experienced slow service during that time, officials said.

Radio transmission and reception were greatly hampered by the northern lights. Transmission over the wires of the Associated Press to morning papers also was disrupted several times.

According to the Associated Press, the magnetic storm—for such is the term used by scientists to describe the apparent cause of the aurora borealis—struck wireless communications to and from Europe, the Far East, and Latin America. Telegraph companies and their service were affected seriously in an area north of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi with the greatest interference between Philadelphia and Harrisburg and the Chicago district.

The disturbance was felt as far west as Albuquerque and Denver, north to the Canadian border and from Boston south to Atlanta. Telephone lines were affected between Minneapolis and Fargo, N. D., the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said.

Most scientists believe the aurora borealis is a manifestation of sunspots. The sunspots, themselves, appear to set up magnetic currents emanating earthward in a manner which slashes communication lines.

NOMINEES WILL WITHDRAW FROM ELECTION RACE

At least three and possibly four persons who were nominated as candidates for Warren borough offices on the Democratic ticket at the primaries on September 9 are planning to withdraw their names from the general election ballot, it was learned today.

Those who have signified their intention to withdraw are Dr. J. T. Valone, nominated for burgess, Lee Dunn, nominated for tax collector, and Dr. J. R. Elliott, nominated for school director. W. Specialized Evening Classes For Retail Store Employes Announced

Through the cooperation of the Retail Merchandising Committee of the Warren Chamber of Commerce and the Warren school board, there will be free specialized evening classes this winter for men and women wishing to prepare themselves for better positions in the retail field, it was announced by the Chamber office today.

The classes will be restricted to employed persons, it was announced. Anyone who desires to enroll may do so without cost, providing they complete at least three-fourths of the thirty-week course.

The committee invites merchants in all lines of trade to feel free to enroll themselves and many of their employes in order that store operation here may be improved.

Proprietors themselves may be interested in the proposed course in "Credit Fundamentals," inasmuch as granting of credit is a matter of prime importance, it was stated. Both proprietors and others should be interested in a course which will include discussion of salesmanship, small store operation and public relations.

Anyone interested in either of those courses, or in a course of waitress training, should enroll at the Warren High School next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Each enrollee will be asked to make a deposit of five dollars as surety of his serious interest in the classes. This amount will be returned if the student completes at least three-fourths of his course or if the class is discontinued for any reason, or if he is compelled for good reason to discontinue his attendance.

Attention is called to the fact that students residing outside the borough of Warren will be required to pay a tuition fee of one dollar per month for each two-hour course for which he enrolls.

Competent instructors and discussion leaders will be provided by the school board. Two-hour classes will be held for each course, one evening each week except during the holiday season, for a total of thirty weeks.

SPRING CREEK MAN USES GUN TO SLAY SELF

The body of Arthur G. Ness, 43, of Oil Creek Hill in Spring Creek township, was found about 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in a Ford sedan which was parked on the Clough farm in Spring Creek township, in a lane leading from the foot of a grade on the Jackson Hill road. Death resulted from a gunshot wound.

Coroner E. C. Lowrey and state motor police from Corry were called and reported that the man's body was slumped behind the steering wheel of the car. Ness apparently had placed the muzzle of a .32 calibre rifle in his mouth and pulled the trigger. The discharge blew most of his head off.

A note, written in pencil, was found on the dashboard. It read as follows: "Goodbye to all. My mind is too far gone to bring it back. Arthur Ness."

Members of his family said he had previously threatened to take his own life, but that they did not think he was serious.

The body was discovered by Fred Deschamp, who lives near the scene. He saw the machine standing on the Clough farm and becoming suspicious that all was not well, he investigated and found the victim. It was reported Ness had been seen at 1:30 p. m. by Robert Van Guilder, another neighbor.

The coroner issued a certificate of suicidal death by shootnig and permitted the removal of the body to the Hull Funeral Home in Youngsville.

Ness, a diemaker at the plant of the Raymond Manufacturing Company, is survived by his wife and one son.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

F. B. I. OFFICERS HOLD MEETING HERE THURSDAY

A demonstration of a new high-powered revolver, of Thompson sub-machine guns and trick pistol shooting by F. B. I. agents were features at a meeting of law enforcement officers of Warren and Forest counties, held yesterday afternoon at the municipal building here, with demonstrations at the outdoor range in Conewango avenue extension.

The group was welcomed by Burgess R. W. Steber and District Attorney J. H. Goldstein was a speaker. A moving picture, "Men of the F. B. I.", was shown to those present.

Joseph E. Thornton, special agent in charge of the Pittsburgh office of the F. B. I., was in charge of the conference.

Special Agents T. D. Webb and G. A. Van Noy gave the firearms demonstration at the range. Webb did trick shooting, using two mirrors in some of his shots. He also demonstrated a new Smith & Wesson Magnum revolver. The new revolver's projectile travels nearly twice as fast as the bullet from an ordinary .38 calibre gun and will penetrate 41 inches of pine block. A shot from this revolver into the engine block of an automobile will penetrate and smash the engine.

Both men demonstrated the use of sub-machine guns, or "tommy guns" with tracer bullets. Light from the tracer bullets is enough to illuminate a target at night, Webb explained, allowing a law enforcement officer to take one shot and then be able to see from its light where to place the next shots.

Practical pistol work and use of riot guns with tear gas or parachute flares were also explained. The F. B. I. men also showed hand gas and smoke bombs.

AMATEUR PLAYS CAREFUL BRIDGE FOR SMALL SLAM

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

The amateur events of the American Contract Bridge League are probably misnamed. They should be termed non-Master events, because any player holding 10 or more Master Points is barred from the amateur contests.

But the possession of 10 Master Points does not make a player a professional. Interest in the amateur games is always keen. I sometimes think it might be a good idea to transfer some of the Masters over to the amateur games and let them see how well some of his hands are bid and played by the non-Masters.

Opening—♣ Q. 19

The President's Pair event at Asbury Park this year, for which the winners were awarded special trophies donated by Col. Robert J. Gill, of Baltimore, Md., president of the league, was won by Judge A. D. Delmar, of Englewood, N. J., and David Horan, of Radburn, N. J. In second place were Jacob Benson of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Milton Tropp of Newark, N. J.

One of the interesting hands played in the President's Pairs is shown today. Several pairs reached six spades but only Horan (North) made the contract. The club lead was won by the ace and a heart lead put dummy in to lead a diamond. The queen was finessed and won. This finesse strangely enough, was taken by all the slam bidders—and turned out to be necessary.

Horan continued by ruffing a low diamond, ruffing a low heart, then another diamond ruff, dropping the king. Another low heart was led from dummy for North to ruff. Horan now decided further ruffing would lead to disaster.

So he cashed the king and ace of trumps, leaving himself with none and West with the queen. Dummy cashed the heart king, and as Horan had hoped, the hand with the last trump also had the last heart. That let dummy continue with the fifth heart and North discarded his last two small cards. North held the diamond ace and the club king at the end, and West made only his long trump.

An estimated annual damage of $50,000,000 in the United States alone is done by termites.

AURORA BOREALIS!

Thousands in Warren and vicinity, along with millions of others in the northern hemisphere, last evening were privileged to witness one of the greatest astronomical displays seen in the skies in the last ten years.

According to the Associated Press the spectacular display of the Aurora Borealis swept the northwestern skies in a heavenly show which led many an individual to believe it had something to do with national defense.

"Is the army testing a new searchlight?" or "Is the air force practicing a new type of night tactics?" were samples of some of the thousands of phone calls which swamped newspaper offices throughout the country.

The capricious flickerings in the firmament played hob with wireless and cable connections, practically around the globe and disrupted radio and telegraph services throughout the United States.

Dispatches today say the disturbance was felt as far west as Albuquerque and Denver, north to the Canadian border and Boston and south to Atlanta. Telephone lines were affected between Minneapolis and Fargo, N. D.

The lights followed a shooting pattern, mostly in green with some pink beginning in a sort of streak and ending in something resembling a flower and were described by attaches of the Planetarium as "very bright."

Most scientists believe the Aurora Borealis is a manifestation of sunspots. The sunspots, themselves, appear to set up magnetic currents emanating earthward in a manner which slashes communication lines. The cross-current effect sometimes sets up currents of considerable voltage in land lines.

The phenomena certainly provided a thrill that will not soon be forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to view it.

NEWSPAPERS AND DEFENSE

Writing in the current issue of the State Department of Internal Affairs' bulletin in connection with National Newspaper Week, October 1-8, the Williamsport publisher said:

"These are troubled times for the state and nation but it is the pledge of the newspapers of Pennsylvania that every part of our resources—mental, spiritual and physical—will be given to the defense of America against attack from without and plotting within."

Person declared that there are 135 daily newspapers and 460 weeklies in the Commonwealth and asserted: "Nearly all of them are prosperous, going concerns. It is fair to state that each of these newspapers ranks near the top in the industrial life of the community it serves."

Person declared that "the press has marched in the front lines of defense in every American emergency and we want the people of Pennsylvania to realize that we are again on the march."

And to that pledge the Times-Mirror gives a wholehearted endorsement.

Next Tuesday, September 23rd, is the last day of summer, but there'll be no complaint if the present brand of weather is continued for the next three or four months.

And don't forget, the next big event in the "Retailers-for-Defense" Week program will be a concert by the high school band on the lawn of the municipal building this evening.

Some Warren women won't stock the fruit cupboard this year because they'll think the prices "uncanny!"

So far as two Warren men are concerned the straw hat season did not end September 15th.

If your neck is stiff and back a little sore today blame it on the Aurora Borealis.

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, Sept. 19—One of the most hopeful signs in Washington these days is an apparent consciousness of too much red tape and the desire of some parties to do something about it. Early in the defense effort, Rep. Andrew Edmiston, of Weston, W. Va., made news when he called up the War Department to ask if the Army would want any pre-fabricated buildings in its construction program. He got transferred sixteen times, but the 16th fellow he talked to was the man he had talked to first.

That incident inspired national archives officials to trace the origin of the term "red tape" back to its first use, shortly after the war between the states, when a veteran bawled out a clerk who was holding up a pension check, demanding that the red tape which was then used in place of paper clips be torn off his application so he could get his money. The story got wide circulation and red tape soon became synonymous with government delay. But here is the third defense effort since Civil War days, and there is still red tape.

President Roosevelt's announcement that the length of time necessary to approve a lease-lend application had been cut from 25 days to 16 days, and was being cut another 24 hours by giving Lease-Lend Administrator Ed Stettinius authority to sign the applications in place of the president is a sample of the time saving that can be effected.

An amazing sidelight, however, is that one of the first things Donald Nelson had to do when he became head of priorities, succeeding Stettinius, was call in a staff of Chicago mail order experts and clean up a backlog of more than 5000 unhandled applications bound up in the Stettinius administration red tape. The rule is now that all priorities applications must be cleared within 48 hours from the time of their arrival in Washington.

Behind a Commerce Department announcement of a few days ago, that it was setting up its own clearing house to break a bottleneck in the handling of export clearances for South America, there was another long tale of grief written in miles of government red tape.

One of the principal concerns of the Export-Import bank, in loaning some $150 million to Latin America for internal development of the 20 American republics, has been the stipulation that all import materials needed for these improvements must be purchased in the United States. Roads, railroads, steel mills, mines, agricultural developments—all were bound to use machinery made in the U. S. A.

Then along came the defense effort. Exporters making road machinery, locomotives, mining equipment, farm implements, under contracts financed by Export-Import loans, suddenly found that couldn't get priorities on steel to complete the Latin American orders.

Here was a snarl that involved half a dozen government agencies—State, Commerce, War, Navy, defense OPM, and the Export-Import bank. Finally a procedure was set up within the office of Export Control, which has final say on what goods can be shipped out of the country, and where. A staff of hard-boiled Army officers was supposed to cut through all the red tape in such a manner that one of these applications coming into Washington could be cleared by all six of the departments within three days. It didn't work.

Gen. Russell L. Maxwell, who had been in charge of export control, was ordered back to active duty in the War Department and his organization was transferred to

Horthy Rules Hungary But Nazis in Control

NOMINAL head of Hungary is Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the 73-year-old regent, who rules from an imperial palace but has no empire, who is an admiral in a country which has no navy and who waits the return of the Hapsburgs, whom he doesn't want.

To further complicate matters, Hungary joined the axis in 1940 under German pressure and whatever control Horthy now wields is delegated to him by Nazi overlords.

The stamp above was issued March 24, 1941. The surtax was used to finance civilian and army pilot training through the Horthy National Aeronautic Fund.

Horthy is technically a dictator. He suppressed the Bolshevik government of Bela Kun in 1920. Hungary was declared a monarchy and Horthy was named regent.

He received the rank of admiral in World War I when he commanded the Austro-Hungarian navy.

His regency is an anomaly. He represents the non-existent king of a kingless kingdom. The nearest claimant is 29-year-old Archduke Otto, and the possibility of his accession is slight.

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921

Gas consumers are now paying dearly for those days of wilful waste a quarter of a century or more ago when gas was first introduced in Warren. In those good old days a flat rate of $3 per stove a month in winter and $1.50 a month in summer was charged and the consumer was privileged to use as much of the gaseous fuel as he desired.

There are approximately 4,000 women in Warren who would be eligible to vote at the primaries Tuesday providing they had registered, but not over half this number have qualified and consequently will have no voice in the primary election.

The championship of the City League was settled in a most decisive manner last evening, when the Struthers-Wells defeated the Elks in the last game of the championship series by a score of 8 to 1. Baldensperger was on the mound for the winners and Flick for the Bills.

Hyatt Grunder, Pleasant township, is about the only apple grower in this section who has a crop of fruit this fall. There is a swamp near his place and the body of water protected the trees from frost when they were in blossom.

The high school football team defeated Youngsville Saturday by a score of 38 to 0. On the Warren lineup were the following: Wilson, Juline, Murphy, Christie, Graziano, Logan, Caldwell, Bevevino, Gettings, Confer and Samuelson.

Mrs. H. L. Banghart, Mrs. H. W. Mitchell, Mrs. F. M. Caughey, Mrs. Rollo Carles and Miss Anne Gildersleeve have arrived home from Pittsburgh where they were participating in the western Pennsylvania golf championship play at the Field Club. Mrs. David Beaty is expected home this evening.

SOLDIERS RECREATION HALL

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A defense public works project approved by President Roosevelt calls for construction of an $82,195 recreation building at Lebanon, Pa., for Indiantown Gap soldiers.

Applied for by the Federal Security Agency, the project's cost will be borne by the federal government and is designed to provide recreational, social and religious facilities for the 18,000 men stationed at the Gap Military Reservation while on leave.

the new Economic Defense Board under Vice President Wallace and Milo Perkins. EDB will now try to relieve some of the red tape pressure which has been strangling priorities applications from the good neighbor countries.

The South Americans themselves have been screaming to high heaven. Here a country had borrowed millions to develop, say a copper mine. The copper was sold to U. S. for defense purposes. But when this same country wanted to buy copper tubing or pipe made in U. S. A., perhaps manufactured from its own ore, it couldn't get an export license. One country, Peru, solved the problem finally by threatening to put an export tax on its ore. Another republic, Argentina, had a commercial attache make the acquaintance of four copper "experts" in the OPM organization, and then gave up.

The yells of the South Americans were only slightly less painful than the yells of the American manufacturers. Here was the government, on the one hand, sponsoring short wave radio programs to win the Latins away from the Nazi propaganda, while on the other er hand an American manufacturer of radio sets couldn't get the priorities or export clearances on materials for radio parts and sets to keep South Americans listening.

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Ten

Pam to the Rescue

PAM stepped back—so his hands couldn't quite touch hers.

"You couldn't have anything to say to me that I'd want to listen to, Jerry. I think I'd better go in, now that you've untangled yourselves from my garden . . ."

"Come on, Jerry," Freda broke in. "Can't you see that the girl's giving you the air, darling? Don't you recognize extermination technique when you see it?"

"Shut up!" growled Jerry, then he turned to Pam and started to move toward the house. "Pam, I've got to talk to you. You've got to listen, whether you want to or not."

Freda stretched an arm out for Jerry, missed him, and then flopped in a soft, apparently boneless heap on the grass. Jerry paid no attention, trying to urge Pam on toward the house.

"But, Jerry, you can't leave her there. It's damp. She'll take cold."

"Good. She needs something like that."

"I won't. I've got things to say to you."

"And do you think, if you're the kind of man who'll let a girl catch her death of cold through your carelessness, I want to hear anything you might say?"

"Freda's putting on an act!" Jerry exclaimed angrily. "She's got anything that happens coming to her."

"Putting on an act? I don't understand?"

"Of course you wouldn't, Pam." His voice was suddenly tender. "How could you? You're so different."

Pam felt as if tears were dropping in her heart. The sweet, familiar tenderness of his voice! But the moon, sailing high in the sky, chose that moment to pick out Freda's diamond and light it magically.

"An act?" Pam heard herself repeating coldly. "That sounds like a poor excuse for your rudeness, Jerry."

"Yes, an act!" It was Jerry who was indignant then. "That girl could show Helen Hayes things and still have lots of lessons left over. Come on in the house. You're listening to me for a while." He put his arm around her and was moving toward the house. It was only with difficulty that he kept from straining her to his heart.

Jerry Winthrope had met many girls. But Pam stood out above them with the clear and faithful beauty of a Cathedral spire in a little Mexican town. The others could not even be compared with her.

In the glorified instant that he stood there with his arm around her, his vision swept down the list of girls who had been the gay playmates of his lighter hours. He had never been serious with any of them, except in that rather half-hearted way, with Freda.

Beautiful, willful Freda. Gay, Sally. Harriet. And on finally to May. Jerry's thoughts paused for an instant on May. She was writing him still. He answered her only after hearing from her repeatedly. He had never made any promises to May, who danced in a Broadway floor show. But May had sticking qualities, it was apparent. Jerry lingered on that instant as he stood there in the warm, scented moonlight, his arm around Pamela.

Freda's Act

"LET'S go in, Pam. I must talk to you," he said finally. There were things he wanted to settle.

"Go into that house and I'll scream. I'll sound your car siren and scream for you so all Key West will know you're in there with her, Jerry Winthrope! And this isn't a nice hour for a girl to have callers!"

"Oh, no you won't!" Jerry turned fiercely toward the heap on the grass.

"I will." Freda giggled.

Jerry stood irresolute, looking first at one girl, then the other.

"Bring her in," Pam said softly.

"I won't!" Jerry stared down at Freda and then stirred the fabric of her dress with the toe of his shoe.

"I will then." As quietly as she had spoken, Pam moved toward the girl and bent to help her up. There was a stifled sound from Jerry.

"Oh, all right!" he cried in exasperation. "If you will be a good Samaritan! But she doesn't deserve it!"

Jerry bent and picked the girl up. He carried her into the house and then dumped her unceremoniously into a chair.

"And I suppose you think I can talk to you with this leering, jeering female around?" he demanded of Pam.

"No one asked you to talk to me. As a matter of fact, I don't want to talk to you. I want you to be on your way just as fast as you can. I've seen all I want to of you!"

Jerry stared in surprise, his anger leaving him. "Pam, I don't understand," he said.

"It doesn't make much difference whether you do or not."

"Oh, yes it does!" He put his hands on her shoulders and forced her to face him. "It makes all the difference in the world. Pam, what's happened? What's changed you?"

"You would ask that!" she said bitterly.

"Well, what should I ask?"

"Nothing. You should know."

"All I know is that you walked out on me. Walked out on me and made a laughing stock of me."

"Good! You asked for it!"

"Are you crazy?"

"No, but you are! You must be!"

Jerry stared at Pam for a puzzled moment. Then he turned, mumbling something about women and their lack of understanding, and rushed out of the door.

Pam thought that was what she wanted, but when the door closed behind his angry figure she felt as if the light had gone out of her life. She stood, stricken, listening to the sound of his steps on the walk. The beat of her heart was like an aching echo of them.

Freda slowly opened her eyes and sat watching Pam in silence for a moment.

"I'm sorry," she said finally. "I hadn't realized."

"Sorry?" Pam came back to the present with difficulty. "You hadn't realized what?"

"That it could be like that. I mean there was something in your voice. I could hear it. Something I've never felt for Jerry and probably never will. So," with a gesture that had in it something gay and gallant, "I give him to you, Pam. I'm stepping out of the picture."

Pam looked at the other girl doubtfully. She brushed impatiently at her eyes with the back of her hand. Freda mustn't see her crying. She was not sure she understood what Freda had just been saying. It might merely be more of her brittle young smartness. It might be Freda's idea of fun to trap her into further signs of affection for Jerry and then scoff at her.

"You — you must be frozen," Pam said not quite steadily. "I'll —I'll make some tea."

Gift From Freda

SHE hurried from the room. In the kitchen she found Melita in a crisp, fresh housedress. Its colorful pattern was blurred by the mist in Pam's dark eyes.

"Oh, Melita, it's so early. You shouldn't be up!"

"Hush, bambi," gently from Melita. "If it is early for Melita; twice early is it for her bambi." She took the tea things from Pam's hands. "Tea, bambi? And strong?"

"Please. The China, Melita. With lime. And get the pretty cups Grandsir brought from India."

"Yes. And now dry your eyes and go back to your strange company. I'll bring the tea."

"I hope you've forgiven me this tonight," Freda had the grace to beg in an humble voice.

"Oh, I'm sorry you had to get your help up," she said to Pam.

"But I didn't," Pam said as she served the tea. "Melita just got up and came down. She's like that."

"Yes"—Freda took the cup from Pam — "she would. Your help would be like that. That's what I mean about you, Pam. You and Jerry. That's what I was trying to tell you."

"I'm afraid I don't know what you're talking about, though," Pam said.

"I mean, Pam, the difference between you and me. You're—well, people would love you because you love them. It's that way with Jerry. You love him. You love him with such a selflessness. So you can give him what I never can. And I have my decent, generous moments, Pam, really I do. And I like Jerry too well to cheat him out of the happiness you can give him. See what I mean?"

Pam wondered if she did, if she was really hearing Freda's words and understanding them rightly.

"I," she said hesitantly, "I'm not sure."

Freda caught something of the doubt and distrust in Pam's eyes.

"I'm being honest with you, Pam. You can believe me. Jerry asked me for his ring. I'm going to give it to him. He's a good egg. I don't know that he quite deserves you, but he certainly deserves better than a thrill-hound like me."

"I don't believe we can sit here and dispose of Jerry's future like this between us," Pam said quietly. "After all, he'll take the woman he wants, if she'll have him."

"And that woman will be you. Take him, Pam. Don't let any hurt pride or anything keep you from it. Jerry's worth it, believe me. I've known him all my life, you see. Jerry needs someone like you. Don't let Lenore get you down."

"But I don't know why you're telling me all this," Pam said.

"Because I don't want you to miss the chance of a lifetime. I mean the chance to get Jerry Winthrope."

By NEA Service

Washington, Sept. 19—You may think the new work of your Joe, who has just joined the navy, is something very different from the jobs and hobbies he had in civilian life.

Likely as not, you'll be wrong. The navy needs plenty of such civil life workers as clerks, storekeepers, stenographers and typists. If Joe was an expert typist as a civilian, likely as not he'll become a yeoman in the service. The navy also makes use of hobby skills and if Joe was an ardent radio "ham" at home, he'll probably end up a radioman at sea.

All navy ships, except submarines and destroyers, have two top jobs for yeomen. One is ship's writer, or secretary to the executive officer. The other is captain's writer, or the boss' secretary.

To get one of these top jobs, perhaps as a chief yeoman, Joe must be an expert typist and be able to take 200 words a minute shorthand. In addition he must know how to handle the myriad navy forms and do complicated filing.

Clerking in civilian life is likely to lead to Joe's wearing the crossed keys insignia of storekeeper on his sleeve. Legible handwriting and typing skill are important for storekeepers. Joe must learn, if he wants to reach the top, how to requisition, store and issue supplies and how to plan and ration the amount and kind of food necessary for a given cruise.

The navy's radiomen, like civilian amateurs (which many of them were before enlisting), have been the heroes of many a mishap. In an emergency, their shipmates' lives may depend on their competence and so nothing is spared in their training.

If Joe has the necessary aptitudes and qualifications he may be sent to the radio school at San Diego, Calif. After that he must show his stuff in practice. Before he'll be qualified for a chief radioman's rating and $126-a-month pay he'll have to be able to operate receivers and transmitters, encode and decode messages, operate and adjust direction finders, antennae and all sound equipment on his ship.

Then, before he can reach the top, he must go back to school—the navy's radio material school. After that he'll be able to operate and maintain all types of naval radio, telegraph and telephone transmitters and receivers.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

MIAMI—Dave Fleischer hopes to go to town in a big way just as soon as "Mr. Bug Goes to Town." . . . Mr. Bug will have about seven tons of assorted watercolors on his neck as soon as they get through with him here in Miami at the Fleischer studios. Mr. Bug is a feature length animated cartoon motion picture, and as Fleischer and his associates crowd into September's dying days they see the end in sight. This means 18 months of continuous effort, of consultation, of pencil sketches, of paint mixing, of photography, of hustle and bustle and—above all—a study of bugs.

I think they have a unique idea behind this picture. . . . The characters all are insects. . . . They sit around and mourn over what a menace "the human ones" are. . . . Well, why not? . . . A man throws away a lighted cigar stub—and cremates a whole colony of beetles. . . . A little boy kicks a tincan—and brings disaster to a family of crickets. . . . It goes like that. . . . It has real pathos, and it is a study in life that will intrigue adults as well as children.

* * *

WE SPENT most of a day just ambling about the studios. . . . Some of it was in the paint shop, where James Lunnon, who used to be a color expert for Rolls Royce in New York, has sole charge of the tremendous task of creating just the right tints and shadings of the colors to be used. He has more than 4500 different colors and tones.

Then we went to the screening room and saw a motion picture composed only of vague pencil outline drawings. . . . In this business you don't wait until the product is finished to look at it. . . . You sketch out the action and throw it onto the screen and study it in embryo. . . . Editing is done then and there. . . . Then black and white is added, and rescreened. . . . If it looks good then, background and color are added. . . . It was fascinating to see this film in pencil sketch, followed immediately by several reels of the finished color product.

* * *

FLEISCHER works hard and he fishes hard. . . . On the walls of the Museum of Natural History in New York is a rare Hound Fish, caught by him. . . . On his office wall is a beautiful sailfish, the only one he has ever caught. . . . The other morning he had a monster on his hook for more than two hours. . . . It got away and he hasn't the slightest idea what it was.

But, for the moment, fish take second place in his affections. He's thinking of Hoppity, who is Mr. Bug in this animated venture that costs so many hundreds of thousands of dollars to produce. . . . Mr. Bug in Dave's life becomes Mr. Big. . . . If the picture wins, Dave wins and all his associates win. . . . If it doesn't; well, there's always the Atlantic ocean. I am not a confirmed fan of animated cartoon movies. . . . I never have recommended one before. . . . I didn't even go for "Snow White." . . . Somehow, I feel that this has an inner pathos that is very human, and therefore worthwhile, and if I didn't think so I wouldn't say it.

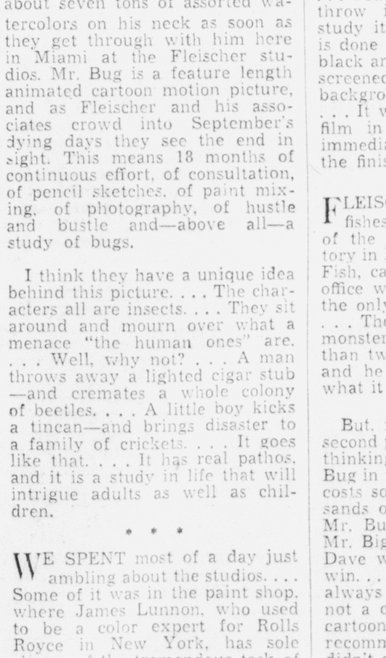
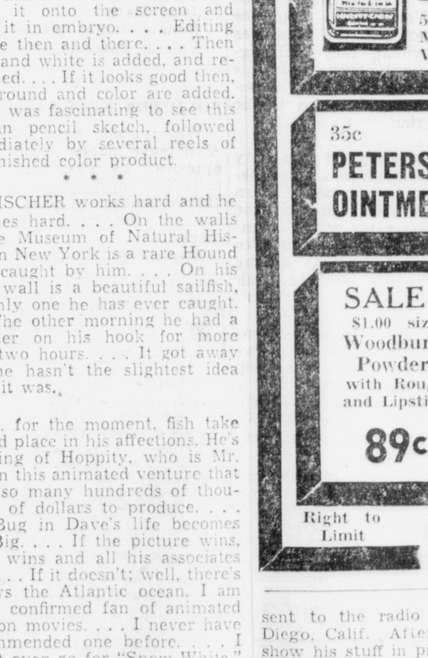
Don'ts for Schoolmarms :

How not to behave before the class is demonstrated by Olivia De Havilland, who qualifies as an authority by playing a schoolmarm in "Hold Back the Dawn."



1. DON'T get excited. Think of your poise—and your little girls too!



2. DON'T eat them apples. It ain't ladylike to chomp in front of people.

3. DON'T daydream. How you going to beat brains into the darlings if you do?

4. DON'T paint up in class. It ain't no kind of example to set for growing girls.

Surely your snapshot collection contains some treasured pictures worth enlarging. Bring the negatives to us and we'll make enlargements in suitable sizes for framing. Prices are reasonable and you can always depend on us for the best in quality.

Warren Concert Association Closing Annual Membership Enrollment on Saturday Evening

Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell, president of the Warren Concert Association, announces today that the annual membership enrollment of the organization will come to a close at six o'clock tomorrow evening and that all reports are to be made at headquarters in the Warren Conservatory of Music by nine o'clock.

The association is arranging a season's schedule of which it has every reason to be very proud. Much favorable comment has been heard in the community concerning its tentative choice of Frederick Jagel, of the Metropolitan Opera; the Curtis String Quartet, of Philadelphia, and Sidney Foster, young American pianist who made a brilliant debut this spring with the New York Philharmonic.

Word has just been received by the campaign committee from New York that young Foster is to give a Town Hall recital during October and has been engaged for appearances with the Dallas, Texas, and New Orleans, La., symphonies in the coming season.

Frederick Jagel is a member of the Metropolitan Quartet which debuts October 10 in Vancouver, British Columbia, and continues with a coast-to-coast concert itinerary. He is credited with "saving" another opera performance during his recent tour in South America, when the leading tenor was removed from the cast by an emergency appendectomy, recalling to many Jagel's substitution for Martinelli when the latter collapsed on the stage at the Metropolitan not long ago.

The Curtis String Quartet has played in over 200 leading American cities and was chosen by the English-Speaking Union as the United States' musical representative to the silver jubilee of the late King George of England. The quartet has also given special concerts at the American embassy in London and at the White House in Washington.

It is doubly important that all reports be received tomorrow evening, since concert dates must be arranged immediately upon close of the enrollment and there are no admissions available later for individual concerts.

Dunkirk Wedding Is Of Interest Locally

On Thursday morning in the Sacred Heart church in Dunkirk, N. Y., Miss Jean Eunice Hitzges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas J. Hitzges, 147 Lincoln avenue, that city, became the bride of Allen George McFarland, of Deer street, Dunkirk, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. McFarland, of Warren.

The ceremony was performed at nine o'clock by Rev. Julius O. Noe. The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Anita Ostrye, and Steven V. Dougnerty attended the bridegroom. Ushers were George W. Preiss and Richard N. Hitzges.

Paintings-Sketches by Gene Alden Walker Attracting Many to Public Library Show

The exhibition of paintings by Gene Alden Walker opened last evening in the gallery of the Warren Public Library was attended by many guests.

The show consists of 35 recent paintings and sketches made this summer in Maine and Cape Cod, and the great variety of subjects and mediums was the topic of much comment.

Among the flower paintings were those loaned by Miss Anna Rockwell, Mrs. Harold Blair, Mrs. Clarence Beckley and Trinity Memorial church: "Rose Tulips," "Orchids and African Daisies," "Flower Study," "Gold Banded Lilies"; also "Study in White," which was shown at the annual exhibition of the National Association of Women Artists, and "Bouquet," shown at the Christmas show at the Argent Gallery in New York City.

Of the many portraits in pastel were "Marie," loaned by Dr. Gail Hamilton; "Jeremy," loaned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fisher; "Nancy," loaned by Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett. One portrait which caused much comment was that of Eliot O'Hara, the eminent water colorist and author of many books on water color. The portraits in oil which are outstanding are "Deborah" and "Little Portygee," both Cape Cod children.

Among the landscapes in oil and water color deserving mention are "Oyster House—Wellfleet," "Buoys, Portland," "Cape Cod House," " 1795 House at Kennebunkport" and " Highland Light," the last named a study of the spectacular lighthouse at North Truro.

The exhibition continues this afternoon and this evening from seven until nine; also Saturday afternoon from three until five.

With Our Boys In Indiantown Gap

Indiantown Gap, Sept. 19--(AP)--The homeward trek for Pennsylvania soldiers over 28 years old will begin any day now with 150 members of the 104th Cavalry listed to quit active service before the North Carolina war games.

Baggage and equipment of about 20 cavalrymen already has been checked as soon as the word is received they will resume private life under the new army regulations based on the selective service age limit of 28.

Lieutenant Robert O. Rupp of Carlisle, personnel adjutant of the 104th Cavalry, which is not a part of the 28th Division but is in training with it, said that about 150 cavalry troops would be shifted to inactive duty with the National Guard before the unit leaves September 25, for southern maneuvers.

Lieut. Col. Henry A. Reninger, adjutant general of the 28th Division, has a list of 2,049 soldiers who were over 28 years old prior to induction into federal service, or selectees who reached that age before July 1. Of these, 807 are classed as eligible for quickest release because of family obligations and other reasons.

The War Department has authorized release of up to 15 per cent of each unit's strength but the final orders for mustering out have not been received.

The released guardsmen will remain a part of the National Guard organization, in inactive status, and the selectees will be shifted to an enlisted reserve corps to serve 10 years less time already put in.

The 28th Division, the 104th Cavalry and the 103rd Observation Squadron, numbering approximately 18,000 troops, will move in three columns next Thursday on the road to Lilesville, N. C. for the war games.

Two columns will go through Harrisburg and the third through Lebanon, Lancaster and Columbia, according to present plans, taking five days to make the journey.

Under special orders of Lieut. General Hugh A. Drum, commander of the first army, the division will make the trip on rubber tires, using for the first time hired busses and convoy vehicles.

A few of the combat troops of the 109th Infantry had a taste yesterday of the kind of trip it will be. They were given a drill in boarding a Greyhound bus. There won't be enough busses to go around, however, and many will make the five-day trip in harder vehicles.

The troops will reach Greensboro, N. C., Saturday night and will remain there over Sunday. On Monday morning, they become part of the First Army, functioning as such from the moment they roll out of Greensboro for Lilesville.

Special Features of Red Cross Work Outlined by Leaders Here

The promotion committee of the Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross, believes it is quite possible that even many persons who are engaged in local work of the organization do not realize what a vast program of human relief it carries on.

An interview with those in charge reveals that there are phases of the local work which attract no attention because they are operated quietly and confidentially. Such is the work of the local committee responsible for acting as intermediary in cases of emergency between soldiers and their relatives. The home service committee of the local Red Cross chapter concerns itself with the welfare problems of members of the military service from this area, and of disabled ex-service men and their dependents. In all cases of emergency, the local committee can communicate with men in service through the Red Cross field directors at the various military stations.

The American Red Cross carries on a continuous program of relief to prisoners of war. It enables donors in this country, if they have the necessary identifying information, to send standard packages of food to specific prisoners of war. The Red Cross assumes not only all administrative expense, but also all handling charges, including ocean freight for packages or other relief made possible through contributions for prisoners of war. This is in addition to expenses incurred by the Red Cross in purchase of food packages and relief supplies for general distribution to prisoners of war. Staff members are also maintained in Lisbon and Geneva to facilitate this program. Since the Red Cross has assumed all charges for freight, the unit price for those who wish to send standard food parcels is now only $2.40 per package.

The Red Cross fights human suffering 365 days of the year in virtually every community throughout the country. One hundred New Jersey families are being helped by the Red Cross as result of a wind storm which swept over Middlesex and Glouster counties August 25, destroying or damaging over 150 homes.

It was announced recently that Red Cross chapters in the southeastern "hurricane" states have completed last-minute measures to meet any eventuality from all storms.

Since 5,000 graduate nurses have been called to staff the army and navy hospitals, local hospitals and clinics throughout the country have suffered. To meet this situation, the American Red Cross will train a Volunteer Nurses Aid Corps, of 100,000 women, to work without remuneration as assistants to graduate nurses.

The Red Cross has recently appropriated $1,250,000 for the construction of Red Cross army buildings. These are being erected at 62 army camps, and when completed will greatly facilitate the operations of the organization's services to the armed forces of the United States.

The Red Cross is the one organization which is trained and stands ready at a moment's notice everywhere to go to the relief of human suffering. The local chapter, of which C. J. Crary is president, has not only the force of women who are working daily in preparing materials for Red Cross use and distribution, but its full number of committees of local citizens for carrying out the various phases of its work under the national organization.

Letters to the Editor

Editor, Times-Mirror,
Dear Sir:

In thanking Warrenites for their cooperation in connection with the blackout and the Aviators' Rendezvous Breakfast, Mr. H. B. Pettit and I forgot to give deserved public thanks to those citizens who donated use of their cars last Sunday morning for the convenience of our guests, and especially to the West Ridge Transportation Company for its civic spirit in providing complimentary bus service at that time. Many expressions of appreciation were heard from the visitors, who said that in no other community which they had visited were the reception so cordial and services so exceptional.

If through your columns you will permit this additional word of thanks, we shall be grateful.

Yours for Warren,
H. W. Correll, Secretary,
Warren Chamber of Commerce.

The New Supreme Court: Young, Beardless, Liberal

BY ALEX R. GEORGE
AP Feature Service Writer

Washington — The Supreme Court, which opens its 1941-1942 session Oct. 6, will be the youngest—and from the standpoint of judicial experience, the "greenest"—in more than a century.

Seven of the nine justices will have been members of the high court less than four years. All, excepting the new chief justice, Harlan Stone, and Justice Owen Roberts, have been appointed by President Roosevelt since his unsuccessful attempt to infuse "younger blood" into the court by enlargement to 15 justices and compulsory retirement at the age of 70.

Only two members were judges before coming to the high tribunal. Justice Hugo L. Black was a police judge early in his career and Justice Frank Murphy served as judge of the recorders court in Detroit for several years. Three justices, Stone, Murphy and Robert H. Jackson, are former attorneys general of the United States.

The average age of the court members is 56 compared with 71 when the President launched his court fight in 1937. None is in the "old man" class. The oldest, Chief Justice Stone, is 68. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes was 79 when he retired last summer and Oliver Wendell Holmes was over 90 when he left the bench in 1932 because of failing health.

The departure of Hughes leaves the court without a beard or a mustache for the first time since pre-Civil war days. To court visitors the symmetrical white beard and "classic countenance" of the stately Hughes was a near-perfect symbol of the court's traditional dignity. He seemed made to order for the role of No. 1 man in the $8,000,000 white marble temple of justice.

Chief Justice Stone, born on a New Hampshire farm and a progressive Republican, was appointed to the court in 1925 by President Coolidge. Stone, Oliver Wendell Holmes and Louis D. Brandeis then comprised the "liberal minority" on the bench. The court Stone now heads is rated "overwhelmingly liberal."

The two brand-new justices, former Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and ex-Attorney General Robert Jackson, were high-ranking New Dealers.

The other five Roosevelt appointees had prominent New Deal connections: Black on the senatorial front; Felix Frankfurter as a brain-truster from Harvard; Murphy as attorney general and a Michigan political leader; William O. Douglas as professor-chairman of the Security and Exchange commission; and Stanley F. Reed as solicitor general of the United States.

FOREST COUNTY ARCHIVES INDEX NOW AVAILABLE

Tionesta — The Inventory to County Archives lately published under sponsorship of the commissioners is still available, but in very limited quantity, J. H. Douglas announced today. He refers to a volume prepared by the Pennsylvania Historical Survey, a program of the Work Projects Administration.

This book serves as a tool for the legal profession in quick reference to documents stored in the courthouse. Whereas before, in order to locate some needed record, they were required to search painstakingly and in many instances, of course, fruitlessly, now attorneys simply have to look in this volume for directions. It reveals at a glance either that some likely assortment of papers is included in the archives or that there is no use searching for the matter desired—it simply is not there.

It is a work of 200 pages attractively arranged, and filled with valuable material. It includes a number of essays, one for each county office; and one treating of county governmental organization in general. The individual essays, besides giving the history of the office at issue, set forth the powers and duties of the various county authorities, and the processes of thought by which their duties were evolved.

In addition it includes a general historical sketch, very brief, but useful in acquiring a background into which to fit the special subject matter above referred to. Also it includes a number of convenient features such as maps, charts, a chronological indext to entries (list of archives contents, a bibliography. The subject index is really helpful, contrary to the general run of that device. Each of the essays carries a number of footnotes documenting the more important matter, and inducing the reader to delve farther into the subject.

The entries pertaining to any given office follow the essay on that office, divided into broad subjects; arranged chronologically according to subject; and designated in numerical sequence. In the essay Recorder of Deeds we note that deeds left for recording but never lifted are kept on file. Naturally, we feel; but had never thought of it. It arouses interest and we find under the entries a subject worded Unclaimed Instruments. No. 104, it reads as follows:

"Old Deeds, 1863-1931. 3 f.b. (dated, and labeled by name of recorder). Deeds left for recording but never lifted, showing names of parties; dates filed and recorded; location and description of property; amounts involved; signatures of parties, witnesses, and recorder; and vol. and p. of recording in Deed Books, entry 94. Arr. chron. by date of filing. No index. Hdw. and typed on ptd. fm. 10x¾x14½." (on pp. 29-30 we find a list of abbreviations which makes the entry clear.)

Of course an attorney would go about this in a different way. If interested he would refer to the subject and the chronological indexes, which is the proper method to employ.

The many essays will provide good source material for anyone desiring to know the county better, whether from the viewpoint of a teacher, student, historian, or citizen simply interested in the community which is his own. It may be supposed that essay writers up here will find this book a valuable reference text, and will employ it for the suggestions it can furnish. It should have a place among the books of every local teacher in the social sciences.

BROKE LAW TO PAY JUDGMENT

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The law demanded $500 from Charles R. Davenport so the 26-year-old millworker said he broke the law to get it.

"It was an automobile accident in April," Davenport told Magistrate Elias Myers upon arraignment on charges of burglarizing eight homes. "A $500 judgment was rendered against me. I got a loan and then couldn't keep up the payment. I tried this to pay off the loan."

He said he "didn't get much" but detectives set value of loot at $800. Davenport was held for further hearing.

YOUTH IS HURT WHEN AUTO AND BICYCLE CRASH

Thrown from his bicycle when it collided with an automobile at the intersection of the Pleasant township road and the Rieg Hill road, near the entrance to Oakland cemetery about 10:40 o'clock last night, George Cohan, 19, of 201 Eddy street, is in the Warren General Hospital with serious injuries. At the hospital, his condition is described as being fair today.

The local youth was believed to be returning to his home from Pleasant township when the lights on Foulkrod's vehicle seemed to confuse him as to direction, according to motor police from the local barracks who investigated.

Foulkrod was approaching Pleasant township from Warren and was entering the earth road just beyond Oakland cemetery when Cohan, going east on the paved Pleasant road, struck the side of the auto.

The youth suffered a compound fracture of the lower right arm and a large laceration on the arm. He was reported to have a concussion, possible skull fracture and bruises.

Police stated today that Foulkrod would not be held.

Work of Lions is Highly Commended

Members of the Warren Lions Club, who will conduct a Daisy Sale here Saturday, September the 20th, for the benefit of the organization's Blind Fund, has received many fine verbal compliments and letters of appreciation for the work which they have done in Warren County in having eye examinations, arranging for operations and securing glasses for persons who could not afford to purchase them.

In addition to the above ten pairs of glasses and one artificial eye were purchased from the proceeds of the 1940 Daisy Sale.

So far this year the Lions Club have had several requests for glasses, but due to the lack of funds they have had to defer action until after the Daisy Sale.

KANE WOLVES BATTLE AGAINST DRAGONS HERE TOMORROW

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

MAN TO MAN, BLUE AND WHITE HAS BETTER, HEAVIER OUTFIT; CONFIDENT OF LOCAL VICTORY

With a confident squad of players, yet not too confident to spoil their chances, Coach J. B. Leidig expects to see his charges come home the winner tomorrow when the Dragons entertain Kane High on Russell Field, the kickoff slated for 2:30 p. m. (DST).

The local varsity squad has concentrated its practice this week on their ground attack, which has improved weekly until now it is ready to topple the average grid powers of the district, and the Blue and White forces hope to use this effectively against the Wolves.

With diminutive but clever Bobby Sedon ready to toss any forward passes the Leidigmen will need, the local schoolboys should have little trouble in giving the invaders a complete overhauling which they may add on their ledger to last week's scoreless tie against little Brockway High School.

The Wolves aren't the strong outfit they boasted to be last season now that Bill Hillman has collected his diploma, and Coach Tom Drummond's job is no easy piece of work through which to experience his first campaign as tutor to the Wolves.

Their ground offensive isn't exceptional, having lost other good backs besides the outstanding runner, and a motheaten line gives the backfield little protection against the hard charging and heavy local warriors.

It is expected, as far as practice session form can be trusted, that nearly the same boys which started last week's Girard contest will be back in the fold to await the kickoff tomorrow.

Don Sharp, Albert Salerno and Lloyd Dickerson seem to be sure starters in the backfield, and Sedon is still pressing Dick Kifer hard for the starting quarterback assignment.

On the line the Dragons expect to have Ted Black and McDonald at ends; Frank Peterson and Keith Patchen at tackles; Tony Marasco and Ken Patchen, guards; and Leon Christiansen at the pivot post.

Man to man, the Dragons have the bigger and better team this autumn, and they'll be out to promise vengeance to local fans for the 6-0 licking they absorbed at the hands of Hillman & Co. before a thousand rain soaked fans at Kane last year, and also win their 22nd victory over the Wolves.

"Y" Physical Program Outlined at Meeting

A meeting of the physical department was held last night at the Y. M. C. A. at which time several topics were discussed and the skeleton program for the winter months was outlined.

Physical Director Ed Hasler plans to have the senior basketball league again this year, and the business men's volley ball loop, and the exercise room will be open to older men and will be included in the regular program.

The possibilities for a noon business men's class were discussed, and the subject was left under the condition that any men interested in this class communicate with Hasler as soon as possible so that it may be organized without delay.

The tennis courts, it was stated, are still open to members and reservations for the court may be made at any time. The court will probably officially close the end of this month.

Father, Son Grid Setup is Broken

Hanover, N. H., Sept. 19—(AP)—A doctor's report blasted a brilliant gridiron career and wrote tragic finis today to a second partnership of the football firm of McLaughry and Son.

The report by Dr. Donald C. Munro, the famed brain specialist of Boston City hospital handed a heavy jolt to Deormond "Tuss" McLaughry, who found the last buffet of fate the hardest to take in his new role as head football coach at Dartmouth College—a post in which he succeeded his old pal Earl "Red" Blaik after a long and honorable career at Brown.

For it said that son Bob, a sophomore, reckoned as one of Dartmouth's finest backs and the kid on whom "Tuss" was depending this fall to make his first year here—a great one, must never play football again. He must never engage in any rugged contact sport, for an injury he suffered in spring practice was a fracture of the sixth cervical vertebra—apparently a recurrence of an older injury. In other words, a broken neck, although not as serious as that bald statement might imply.

The kid, almost as big as sturdy brother John, was going to make us forget all about that great blocker and line-backer who sparked his old man's teams at Brown a few years ago.

But even in prep school, "Tuss" always said, Bob was the better player of the two.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Sept. 1—(The Special News Service)—Today's Brooklyn "humb song: "Casey balked with a runner on third, and the Bums played on." . . . As soon as that ruckus in Pittsburgh yesterday calmed down a bit, Secretary John McDonald of the Dodged phoned a report to Boss Larry MacPhail. . . . At this end of the line, Larry was overheard demanding: "You call long distance to tell me that Magerkurth is a blanked thousand so? I knew that all the time." . . The Dodgers just couldn't wait to get back to the eastern half of the league. . . They took a special train to Philadelphia to spend an off day. . . Middle western papers report that Bill McKechnie gave a demonstration of his ability as a chef the other day and cooked a dozen squirrels. Could that be a backhanded slap at the way Bill's Reds treated our bums? . . . CBS radio news editors report that when they make their daily transAtlantic calls to line up the broadcasts from Europe, the first thing they hear is, "How did the Dodgers make out?"

Today's Guest Star

Jack Singer, New York Journal-American: "Bill Terry notified the press that Burgess Whitehead, who is suffering from a torn ligament in his shoulder, would remain with the Giants in the capacity of a pinch runner. Terry apparently is working on the mistaken theory that the Giants are going to get a runner on base."

CUTS MADE ON RED JACKET TEAM; EXPECT HARD GAME THIS SUNDAY

Coaches "Doc" Reese and Bill Paris trimming their squad down to the twenty-two players to be carried this season, each Red Jacket candidate remaining on the list is working for two things this week, and plenty of enthusiasm is subsequently being shown in the nightly drills at Beaty Field.

The first of the two objectives to be reached by these players is to gain a certain berth, to show well in rehearsals and Sunday's game to guarantee their place in the Jacket lineup, and the other is to get set to tackle "Whitey" Fowle's reputable Pace A. C. Sunday afternoon.

Knowing that a victory over the invaders would give the current western Pennsylvania champions an endorsement on this year's Jacket edition, every player is preparing himself individually to be at his best for the game with the Pacers.

Fowle's club is a heavy outfit, one that will be capable of matching the Red Jackets pound for pound on the line, and boasting a similar backfield to that of the locals. They come no better than "Whitey," and he promises to be in the lineup here Sunday to once again sport his wares before Jacket fans.

Blossey was cut from the squad this week, it was definitely announced last night, and Harry Ganza, the big boy from Erie Tech, will either become a line candidate for the pros or else will not be seen in future action here according to present plans.

As for the remainder of the squad, it is still about the same as at the start except for the vacancies left by Murphy and Whisner who now are with the New York Americans (Yankees) and will hit the road this fall.

An addition nas been made to the candidates with Harry Rosequist's young brother now a prospect, and a bright one, to cop one of the end berths as soon as he learns the signals and plays used by the team. Hailing from Warren, Ohio, young Rosequist is fast and average weight, around 170 pounds, making a worthy gridder for a terminal post, that position presently giving the Jackets trouble.

The club will hold its final drill tonight at Beaty Field and then will rest over Saturday before the kickoff at 2:30 p. m. Sunday afternoon. With interest growing in the professional season, and the Jackets developing one of the strongest aggregations ever seen locally, Sunday's crowd should eclipse last week's throng which welcomed the team back in Warren for another campaign.

SPORT SCATTERING

PAUL YAGGE GOOD BET TO TAKE STATE RIFLE CROWN AT DUBOIS SATURDAY; DODGERS LUCKY, BUT SHOULD GIVE YANKS RUN IF THEY CLASH

Paul Yagge caught us off guard yesterday and slipped a couple of words in concerning the coming state .30 calibre rifle championship shoot to be decided at DuBois Saturday and Sunday. And the keen local sharpshooter passed along details of the meet, including the Warren riflemen who will participate in the individual shoot on Saturday. Besides Yagge, Freeman O. Peterson, Alf Nelson and E. M. "Hoppy" Marlowe will make the weekend trip, all of them entering the meet for individual honors and Nelson with Yagge expecting to place on the west's six-man team for the east-west meet on Sunday to decide the six-man championship. With some of the nation's best shooters hailing from Pennsylvania and most of them being ready to fire in the event, competition will be plenty keen for the local men. Yagge, in practice recently, shot 187 over the course and believes anyone shooting 185 or above will cop the individual title. Highly confident that he can do as well again, the local insurance man hopes to come home with a blue ribbon. This community's entrants seldom take a back seat to any in the state in such firing, though such shooters as Rk. Nelson, DuBois, outstanding in this sport, and many other top-notchers intend to have something to say about settling the individual title.

Though the Dodgers seem to have fate and luck on their side, the steaming finish in the National League pennant race will be taken by a really deserving club if they win, though the same can be said about the Cards. But in view of the fact that breaks win ball games, it must be remembered that the team benefiting must take advantage of them. And this was the case of the Dodgers in eking out a victory, one of many of its kind, in Pittsburgh Wednesday by a 6-4 score. Behind 3-1, they scored three runs to go ahead in the top half of the ninth. Then with the bases loaded and two out, an infield grounder that should have been an easy out took a bad hop over Stu Martin's head, allowing two additional runs. Fortunately, the Brooks were in a position to make the most of this, and the base runners came trotting over the pan in short order. But credit for that victory can't be kept from the Flatbush Wonders, for the first three runs came via sharp, clean hits, and the bet would be even that eventually they would have emerged the winner. Of the two teams, Dodgers and Redbirds, we feel the latter is the better club, but, as you all know, injuries have spared nothing on the Cardinal lineup, and this will serve as a reasonable explanation for the Cards if they don't win the flag. It's no alibi, for records show that in the few occasions this year when the full lineup was together Billy Southworth's Gas Housers were the hottest thing in the National, and now would undoubtedly have the pennant sewed on their flag pole. Regardless of who wins in the senior circuit, this corner is out on the limb now to tell you that the Yanks are going to get a run for their money, and it will be quite a show.

Quickies . . . Most baseball writers agree that the Cincy Reds weren't great champions, but certainly were game . . . And when speaking of the injury jinx, don't forget that was the reason for the Rhinelanders losing a good many contests this summer, also . . . Grantland Rice in his famed column, "The Sportlight", recently suggested to other major league clubs that they hustle like the Yanks, Dodgers and Cards . . . The noted sports writer denounced most of the other thirteen outfits, contending they have altogether too much of the feeling of "what's the difference?" in both loops . . . Let's second the motion . . . In case you haven't thought of it, Nova and Louis go in New York a week from Monday night, and the prediction is that the gate will draw between $750,000 and one million . . . Our prediction, Louis by a kayo—but quick . . . Well, gentlemen, now that everybody is agreeing that the T formation won't work without the proper material, tell us, please, what makes any formation work? . . . Arguments saying many teams can do other formations well, but not the "T", don't stand to reason, unless those able to toss a "T" party can do every other formation just a bit better than the other teams . . . If this isn't the case, then the whole argument goes into the waste basket, because no team can win all their games on a lone formation . . . Not even Stanford or the Chicago Bears, masters of the "T" formation . . . Both mix it with many other kinds, and frequently.

Golfers Tee Off In Quaker City

Philadelphia, Sept. 19—(AP)—Golf's big name players—amateur as well as professional—set out today in quest of prize money or glory in the inaugural $7,500 Henry Hurst Invitation Tournament with the consensus that a score of 275 would win the top $1,200 award.

The prediction that five-under-par golf for the 72 holes of play would take first money came from Fred Corcoran, professional golfers association tournament chairman. Such stars as Byron Nelson, Ed "Porky" Oliver, Ben Hogan and George Fazio agreed.

Co-favorites to make the prediction good were Hogan, the leading money winner of the year; Nelson, former Open and P. G. A. champion; Sam Snead, winner of $9,988 in tournament prizes this year; Craig Wood, current U. S. Open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, who copped last week's $5,000 Atlantic City Open.

In the field of 88 expected for the initial 18-hole round at Torresdale-Frankford course, however, were Vic Ghezzi, P. G. A. champion, Marvin "Bud" Ward, National Amateur champion, Lawson Little, Clayton Heafner, Jim Demaret, Jug McSpadden, Paul Runyan and a host of others, anyone of whom is capable of causing an upset. After another 18 holes tomorrow, the low 45 scorers will battle it out over the 36-hole route Sunday.

Harmon Makes Hit With Draft Board

Gary, Ind., Sept. 19—(AP)—Tom Harmon, top grade football player, is in the same class in the draft.

A selective service board placed the former Michigan All-America halback in Class 1 last night, making him subject to immediate physical examination to determine if he is ready for service at once.

The board denied Harmon's request that he be placed in class 3-A on the ground his parents were dependent on him. His father is a retired steelworker.

LIPPY LEO IS THROWN OUT OF COLORFUL BALL GAME IN 8th; REDBIRDS BEATEN BY BOSTON

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the Brooklyn Dodgers won't win the National League baseball championship maybe they will go after Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing crown.

They took their minds off baseball long enough yesterday to lose a critical game to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, and they also lost their preliminary venture into the heavyweight class to Umpire Magerkurth, a man mountain weighing about 225 pounds and 6 6 feet 4 inches tall.

But the fates which protest little children—and the Dodgers—saw them through their hours of travail once again by bringing the Boston Braves a 4-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. This kept Brooklyn in front by one game with the standings:

	W.	L.	GTP
Brooklyn	93	52	9
St. Louis	91	52	10

The rumpus at Pittsburgh was one of those wild sideshows for which the delirious Dodgers have become famous.

The game was tense all the way, with the Pirates hopping on Fred Fitzsimmons for four runs in the fourth, and Johnny Lanning holding the Dodgers to two singles through seven scoreless innings.

The volcano really erupted in the eighth.

The Dodgers dug up five runs in a breath-taking rally after two were out.

Luke (Hot Potato) Hamlin went to the mound and gave a single to the first batter, Vince DiMaggio, who reached second as Joe Medwick fumbled. Big, Chubby Hugh Casey was rushed in and got the next two men out, with DiMaggio moving to third. He also got two strikes on Al Lopez. Then he balked and Umpire Magerkurth waved DiMaggio home with the tying run. There was a mass protest by the Dodgers which lasted for five minutes.

Casey was infuriated, however, and threw the next three balls over the heads of Magerkurth, Lopez and his own catcher, Mickey Owen. Magerkurth went to the mound and told him, "You can't make a travesty of this ball game."

Durocher stormed at Magerkurth in language that the umpire later termed "bitter."

The umpire ordered Lippy Leo out of the game. Casey walked Lopez, Alf Anderson tripled the winning run home.

What did do them some good was Boston's beating the Cards 4 to 1. Frank Demaree got his only hit of the series in the first inning—a homer with two on—and Gene Moore clouted another with the bases empty in the sixth. With this backing, Manny Salvo held the Cards to six hits and won easily.

The Redbirds would have taken the lead by two percentage points if they had won. They play the Chicago Cubs today while the Dodgers have an open date, but victory still would leave them a half game out of first place.

In yesterday's other games, the Cincinnati Reds swept their second straight doubleheader from the Phillies, 5-0 and 9-2.

The Cubs took fifth place away from the New York Giants by beating them, 7-1, on the four-hit hurling of Jake Mooty and a six-run rally in the seventh inning.

Bob Feller acquired his 24th victory with an eight-hit pitching job that gave Cleveland a 6-1 triumph over the Boston Red Sox. The Washington Senators repulsed the St. Louis Browns, 9-8.

BANQUET HELD TO HONOR RECS SOFTBALL TEAM

A very enjoyable softball banquet was held last evening in the club rooms in honor of this year's Recreation Center team with nearly all of the players present and other specially invited guests of honor making the occasion an overwhelming success.

A delicious dinner was served those attending and following the meal and a few short speeches, the evening was spent by nearly everyone in reminiscing various instances of color in this and other year's softball races.

Frank Williams, club officer, served capably in the role of toastmaster for the occasion and also as a worthy member of the committee in charge of the festival.

Mel Johnson, president of this year's circuit, Manger "Flat" Bonavita of the Recs, "Cutsy" Castagnino, popular umpire, and Floyd Passinger, Times-Mirror sports editor, paid brief respects to the team and league for the way in which it was managed throughout.

Dick Harrison, who ably assisted Johnson in deciding protests and who it was intended should be present last night, was forced to stay away from the festivities, being ill at the present time. All present gave a rising vote of thanks to Dick for his efforts.

The Recreation Center seemed to be the best team, man for man, in the circuit this year but lost out to the K. of C. in the playoffs. Tony Hahn, one of the best players ever to be produced on local softball diamonds, was lost to the team shortly before the series with the Caseys, taking with him a great percentage of the Recs' offensive hitting power. Hahn was injured while working at Struthers-Wells, and is just being removed from the hospital to his home this week.

With a vow that next year would be different, the team and the others present all went to the club parlors for an evening of entertainment.

BILL GALLON IS SET TO RUN IN DELAWARE

Delaware, O., Sept. 19—(AP)—Bill Gallon, 1941 Hambletonian winner, goes today as the "roaring grand" circuit winds up its four-day meeting here, but anything that happens will be an anticlimax.

The experts have it that Bill Gallon, despite his win in the big Goshen, N. Y., classic, will be beaten in today's start, the three-year-old star not liking the half-mile tracks.

The word "mausoleum" is derived from reference to the building erected in honor of Mausolus by his wife.

PETER REISER A SHOO-IN TO COP PLAYER HONORS

BY DUKE MORAN

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19—(AP)—The next nine narrowing days will decide whether the Brooklyn Dodgers will wear the National League crown but there's a lad in their midst today who already seems a shoo-in for a bunch of individual honors.

He's two-gun Pete Reiser, who may end his first full season as a major leaguer wearing the triple-plated crown of batting champion, outstanding rookie and most valuable player to his team. To this record might be added the title of "personality champ" for this unassuming kid. The extra honor is not due to high-powered assets such as a glib tongue and a glad hand but rather to Pete's consummate modesty over his astonishing deeds.

Reiser looks like the fresh-faced youngster next door but he hits baseballs like a demon and currently ranks among the greatest clutch hitters for his habit of inserting base knocks when the fighting Flatbushers most need 'em.

Lippy Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooks, calls Outfielder Pete one of "the best young players I ever saw."

Both Germany and Russia were affected by international incidents growing out of the war.

Japan was reported by Koh Ishii, Tokyo government spokesman, to have protested to the Soviet embassy for a second time against floating Russian mines in the Sea of Japan as menaces to navigation.

LOCK HAVEN SLUGGER CHARGED WITH MURDER

Lock Haven, Sept. 19—(AP)—District Attorney Burritt L. Haag said today a charge of murder has been filed in Pittsburgh against Hoy Kenneth Houck, 21-year-old former orchestra leader, in the death of Rose Haber, 34, and that Houck would be taken to that city later in the day for questioning.

Bradford Producer is Victim

cause of the blast probably never would be known, since it could have been set off by a shock, friction or a change of temperature.

The blast ripped the truck and its driver to bits, scattering debris over a wide area. Early arrivals on the scene said they found no pieces of the truck large enough to establish identification of the machine or its driver, but the truck was later identified.

According to information received here, the car bearing Martin and Streeter was following the truck. The explosion blasted off the front end of their car, which leaped a 30-foot crater caused when the glycerine truck exploded. The passenger vehicle was turned into a twisted mass of wreckage.

The explosion leveled trees for a distance of 100 yards along both sides of the highway. The force of the blast pulled the leaves from the trees into the crater in the asphalt pavement, which was 12 feet deep.

Ed Fitzgerald, of Bradford, trailing the Martin-Streeter car in another car in which his wife and another woman were passengers, reported;

"The force of the explosion stopped my car. They (Martin and Streeter) apparently were preparing to pass the truck when the blast let go."

Extensive "five-spotting" oil operations are being carried on about a mile west of the point of the blast by the Minard Run Oil Company and the Forest Oil Corporation.

Martin and Streeter were en route to Oil City for a conference with other oil men in connection with the district producers' fight to have the recently imposed price ceiling on Pennsylvania oil lifted or revised.

Streeter, a member of the firm of Bradley, Carter and Streeter, was chairman of a producers' fact-finding committee delegated to prepare data on production costs at a forthcoming hearing in Washington on the producers' protests against the price fixing order.

It was stated this afternoon that five blood donors had been summoned in an effort to save Streeter's life.

He has extensive oil holdings in both the Bradford and Allegany districts.

Gloss, believed to have been the driver of the truck, has three sons, the youngest of whom was born only two weeks ago. The other children are aged one and two and a half years.

Defense Stamps are on sale at the Stamp Desk, Street Floor. We suggest you redeem your Discount Stamp Books in Defense Stamps.

We could just as well have asked, "What makes the defense planes fly?" or "How are the battleships made?" because in any case the answer is the same. It is the unity and devotion of all the people.

Sometimes it may seem difficult to see the relationship between what we in civilian life may do and the nation's effort to prepare our Defenses. However, when you stop to think that it takes labor and machines and materials to provide the things which National Defense requires and that in this country all these things are normally devoted to the service of the public, then you begin to realize how important it is that waste and inefficiency shall be banished in order that more and more of our facilities may be devoted to National Defense.

Retail stores throughout the nation this week are featuring "Retailers for Defense." We join with thousands of other stores in a sincere effort to make the service of retail distribution as efficient and as economical as the circumstances will permit.

In this we invite your cooperation. Please select your merchandise carefully and do not make unnecessary returns. Carry home your small purchases and join with us in conserving labor and materials for the Defense effort.
